'Brain' Fails; Ranger Will Crash Into Moon

—Associated Press Wirephoto

COLLEGE STUDENTS Martin Huddleston, James Mason and William Bartee, missing three days in a cave, are reunited with relatives at Trenton, Ga., shortly after their rescue.

Three Students Lost in Cave Describe 60-Hour Ordeal

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—Three college students spent more than 60 hours huddled on a tiny ledge carved from mud in a treacherous mountain cave before they were found, Monday, by fraternity brothers and rescued alive and well.

They were located in what is called a "mud pack room" deep in the heart of Lookout Mountain in northwest Georgia. A crack team of cave explorers who vowed to keep looking until the trio was found brought them to the surface.

Their rescue touched off a joyous celebration at the mouth of the cave where relieved parents shouted and danced, saying "They're safe. They're safe. Thank God they're safe."

The students, William Bartee, 20, and James Mason, 21, both of Atlanta, and Martin Huddleston, 19, of Ormond Beach, Fla., ate a hearty meal of steak, creamed potatoes, baked apple, coffee and milk. It was their first meal in more than 60 hours. They had only swallows of water during that period.

Mason and Huddleston are students at Emory University in Atlanta. Bartee grew up in Atlanta with Mason and attends Presbyterian College, Clinton, S.C.

Mason, who wore a red sweatshirt covered with mud, said they wanted to explore two big holes deep in the cave so they secured a rope at the top of a mud bank and went on down.

* * * *

"WE KNEW there was water down there, but we didn't know how much," he said. "I went down first and hit about chest deep. The others came on down."

Mason said they went out a little distance and found the water in the subterranean lake over their heads. "We swam out about 40 feet and it was getting cold and we started cramping pretty good and we swam on back.

"We decided it was about time to leave and we started to climb up this sheer cliff by holding onto the rope but by this time it was pretty slimy. The more we tried to crawl up the rope the harder it got," he continued.

"Using a knife, we crawled about 40 feet up the slope and carved out a four-foot trench," he said. "We took turns with two of us sitting in it and the third one lying across our laps to keep warm."

Ed Seagraves and Dick Shuptrine, fraternity brothers of Mason, and Harry Lang, a fraternity brother of Bartee, found the students in an area by-passed many times by other searchers.

"First we heard a faint murmur," Lang said. "We yelled and they yelled back. We worked our way through a labyrinth of passages until we could see them. They were several feet below us and across a pond on a little ledge."

Seagraves and Shuptrine stayed there while Lang summoned members of the Civil Defense rescue team.

L. B. Doctors Urge 500-Bed Hospital

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Editor

Organized medicine in Long Beach urged Monday the immediate construction of a 500-bed naval hospital here.

Dr. Thomas F. Wright, chairman of the Long Beach Medical Association's armed services medical committee, sent telegrams to Sen. Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and the office of the assistant secretary of defense.

Dr. Wright said his committee "strongly urges and endorses immediate construction of a U. S. naval hospital of adequate size for intended purposes as determined by the office of the secretary of defense."

The size, Dr. Wright noted, should be 500 beds.

City Manager John R. Mansell said he was "certainly gratified" at the medical group's new stand.

"I am sure it will help us a great deal in Washington," Mansell said.

"I was confident that after further study and looking over additional information the medical group would come to the same conclusion as we in city government held."

Earlier letters from Long Beach doctors to Washington had touched off a furor in Navy circles.

Dr. Wright originally had proposed that a civilian survey team be appointed to determine hospital bed needs for the community.

And the Galen Club, organization of young doctors, had proposed a Navy hospital no larger than 200 to 250 beds.

Dr. William S. Cheney, press liaison chairman for the Long Beach Medical Association, said Monday that a letter from Frank B. Berry, deputy assistant secretary of defense, had clarified matters for local doctors.

Berry explained that the

Spacecraft Won't Respond to Signals

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — Scientists Monday night abandoned plans to try to correct a faulty "brain" in the Ranger 4 spacecraft and said the vehicle will crash on the dark side of the moon Thursday morning.

After beaming a series of signals from ground stations in an effort to steer the craft onto its intended course, officials at the jet propulsion laboratory, Goldstone, Calif., decided this was fruitless.

A statement said:

"Since Ranger 4 has not responded to commands from earth stations, a decision has been made not to send the spacecraft mid-course or terminal maneuver commands."

* * * *

THE FEELING was that any attempt at sending these commands might knock the vehicle off its present collision course with the moon.

If the trouble with the payload's control and telemetry system—the result of an errant timing device — could have been overridden by ground signals, officials said earlier Monday, there was still a possibility Ranger 4 could have achieved its principal mission.

These were to take closeup television pictures of the moon and eject an instrument package for landing on the bright side of the lunar surface to record moon quakes and meteorite hits.

* * * *

THESE GOALS can not now be accomplished, the jet propulsion laboratory reported Monday night.

Nevertheless, the United States can take some consolation in the fact that it is about to land a package on the moon, even though it will crash and destroy itself. Seven previous U. S. moon failures could not claim that much.

Ranger 4 will impact on the far side of the moon—the side never seen from the earth except in photographs taken by Russia's wide swinging satellite, Lunik III.

The Soviets also crash-landed the Lunik II payload on the moon 2½ years ago.

Hot Senate Fight Due on Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing sides gathered their forces Monday night for the impending start of a Senate debate that could develop into another historic and prolonged civil rights battle.

Democratic leaders said they will move to call up today the Kennedy-backed voter literacy test bill and push it through to a showdown.

Southern senators took up positions against the measure, with every indication they were prepared to wage another all-out filibuster if necessary to defeat it.

* * * *

EVEN BEFORE the battle was joined, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., took the floor during a brief post-Easter session to denounce the bill as unconstitutional.

The measure, President Kennedy's principal civil rights proposal of the 1962 session, would provide that a sixth grade education shall be the maximum literacy requirement to qualify any person to vote in a federal election.

* * * *

STENNIS contended the states, and not Congress, are specifically empowered to fix voter qualifications. He said that if the administration bill should pass and be upheld in the courts "it would mean, in effect, our written constitution was gone."

On the other hand, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a pro-civil rights leader, said over the weekend that passage of the literacy test bill "is the very least Congress ought to do." He and other supporters of the bill say Congress is fully empowered to protect voting rights.

"These literacy tests may look all right," Javits said on a New York City television program, "but when administered by Southern registrars, they are used to bar Negroes, even college professors and college students, from voting."

Glenn, Titov to Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Academy of Sciences Monday said Soviet astronaut Gherman Titov and American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., probably will address an international scientific meeting here May 3.

U.S., Russ Agree on Talk Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk agreed with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Monday to make Washington the site for future talks on the Berlin situation.

The agreement was sealed following a 50-minute afternoon visit by Dobrynin at Rusk's office, their second meeting on Berlin in a new series of U.S.-Soviet talks begun a week ago.

* * * *

THERE SEEMED to be little sense of urgency by either side to hurry on with the negotiations. Neither was there any sign of progress toward solution of the long-stalemated dispute.

No definite date was set for the next meeting. Without a speedup, the Soviet representative will not see Rusk again until well into May because the U.S. foreign affairs chief leaves this weekend for a two-week global jaunt.

Dobrynin described Monday's discussion as "very friendly." Rusk's aides termed the atmosphere "relaxed."

* * * *

AT THE same time, U.S. authorities stressed that the talk was on procedural matters—not on the substance of the potentially explosive Berlin question.

BERLIN (UPI)—Communist MIG jets broke the sound barrier repeatedly over West Berlin Monday and zoomed through the Frankfurt air corridor in such numbers Allied planes were warned to use "extreme caution."

Monday's sonic booms over Berlin and the numerous Russian jet flights were the first significant Russian actions in the Berlin air lanes in more than three weeks.

Catastrophe Avoided; Cat Tax Solved

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark has finally figured the inheritance tax for Mrs. Montgomery's five cats, but his ingenuity was taxed also.

Mrs. Margaret Montgomery died in 1960 and left her $13,804.59 estate in trust for her cats. After the last cat dies, their trustee, William J. Fields, 72, a neighbor, is to get 60 per cent of the residue.

The other 40 per cent will go to the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, an order of Catholic nuns at Cornwells Heights, Pa.

* * * *

CLARK SENT his taxing provisions Monday to Cook County Judge Thaddeus Adesko: four of the cats that are 12 years old, more or less, must pay $15.10 apiece. The other cat, Flat Nose, 9, pays $181.83.

Forgetting, for the purpose of taxation, that cats are credited by some authorities with nine lives, Clark assumed that each cat is now well along in the only provable life it has.

* * * *

ACTUARILY speaking, cats live about 10 years in Chicago's rather trying environment. But Mrs. Montgomery's cats can expect better than that. They sleep in individual comfy beds and dine on nothing but the best.

The attorney general settled for 14 years. If the cats live longer, he said, the state will not quibble. If they don't reach 14, it's their hard luck.

It was incontestable also that cats are taxable as Class 111 heirs—that is, not related by blood to their benefactor, and subject to a 10 per cent levy on their bequests.

* * * *

SO, for each of four of the cats—the 12-year-olds, Big Boy, Brother Cat, Blue Eyes and Mommy Kitty—the tax applied to one-fifth of the estate income for two years—a sum estimated at $251.02 — minus a $100 exemption that cats and humans alike are entitled to. Hence, 10 per cent of $151.02—or $15.10.

Flat Nose, with five years' life expectancy, will share

Coast Guard Stands by Ship

NEW YORK, Tuesday (AP) —A Coast Guard cutter rendezvoused with the helpless 71-foot schooner "Black Panther" in high seas early today and prepared to take her in tow by first light.

All eight persons aboard the schooner were reported safe.

A Coast Guard spokesman in New York said the rendezvous took place shortly after midnight 300 miles southeast of New York and 300 miles due east of Norfolk, Va.

Young Men on Inside Get Jaycee Charter

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—The first Junior Chamber of Commerce chapter ever organized among prison inmates will receive its charter at a banquet next Sunday in the West Virginia Penitentiary.

Public Institutions Commissioner Joseph E. Hodgson said Gov. W. W. Barron would attend the dinner. Also scheduled to attend, to present the charter, is a national officer of the Jaycees.

* * * *

THE PRISON JAYCEE chapter was organized with 37 inmates as charter members, and elected officers at an April 15 meeting. It was done with the help of the Marshall County Jaycee chapter.

Warden Otto C. Boles said the Marshall County chapter got interested in the men while working on a project to provide instruments for the prison band—and wanted to do something additional.

Inmates submitted a list of men they thought would be suitable as charter members to get the chapter organized. Boles and a deputy screened this list. Those who remained became the 37 charter members. Later the chapter will take applications for membership from other prisoners.

* * * *

THERE ARE ABOUT 1,800 prisoners in the penitentiary. However, the Jaycee organization is for men in the 21-35 age group.

The project has been received enthusiastically by prisoners, Boles said.

"The men in the chapter will take on special projects, things they can do in here, just as the Jaycees do on the outside," he said.

The president of the inmate chapter is James Thomas Cantrell, who entered the prison in 1957 under life sentence from Raleigh County for murder.

POLICEMEN HUNT BOMB, HEAR BOOM

Some of the most startled people in town Monday when a sonic boom rattled windows throughout the city were several usually unexcitable members of the Long Beach police department.

Only a few seconds before the boom rippled across the city, police had dispatched officers to the downtown office of General Telephone Co., 550 Elm Ave.

The officers' assignment —investigate report of a bomb hidden in the building.

A worker, William Sallard, 40, was crushed when a wall collapsed on him. Eleven other employes of the Gustin-Bacon Manufacturing Co., were injured in the blast, none seriously.

A fireman, William Reynolds, 69, of Kansas City, suffered a fatal heart attack while directing cleanup operations in front of the wrecked plant about 45 minutes after the explosion.

Brush Fires Rage

By Associated Press

Scores of forest and brush fires scorched the earth of the northeast Monday, fanned to menacing proportions by a capricious spring gale. No loss of life was reported although some homes and sheds were destroyed.

The fires struck in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts. Soldiers and prisoners were recruited to help fire fighters in some sections. A fire, fanned by heavy winds, scorched some homes and forced scores of residents to flee in a five-square-mile semi-rural area of New York's Staten Island.

Bus Strike Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Union bus drivers postponed for 24 hours their threatened midnight strike Monday against Greyhound's operations in 11 western states.

A company spokesman said Monday night the delay came as "negotiations looked more promising" between the company and the 5,000-member AFL-CIO Motor Coach Employes Union.

Jobless Data Given

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jobless workers in six big industrial states received 57 per cent of the $740 million in extended unemployment benefits paid by the federal government since April 1961, the Labor Department reported Monday. It said the lion's share of payments went to 1.3 million idled citizens of California, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

L.A.C. SAYS:

Service Above Self

The passing of Dr. Milton Van Dyke was a terrible blow to his thousands of friends and to the medical profession. As a leading pediatrician over many years, he has cared for thousands of children —many of whose children have also been under his care. His unfailing good humor and dedication to their care brought him the love and respect of everyone who had the privilege of knowing him.

It was not only in his professional capacity that Milt Van Dyke was respected. He was one of the outstanding civic workers of the community. He headed the drive for the doctors' million dollar contribution to our hospitals. He was one of the most dedicated workers in achieving the Long Beach Plan by which medical insurance was provided for groups with guaranteed fee schedules.

This writer was privileged to serve with him in organizations over the past 30 years—and when he was president of Rotary Club. His wide interest in the various children care activities were an outstanding example of the time he gave where his understanding and skill were so important.

He will be greatly missed in the community where he was so greatly loved and which he loved so much. But he leaves behind him an example of goodness and dedication to civic responsibilities that should be an inspiration to us all. He was an example of all that was good in the medical profession and counted among his friends and supporters are all the professional people who knew him.

There was one standard which we like to think of as fundamental to the life of Milton Van Dyke. It is the Rotary "Four Way Test" which reads as follows:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Yes, he lived up to these principles in his profession and above all in the discharging of his civic responsibilities. He was as busy as any man in the community. But he took time to do what he thought was his duty as a citizen—and to repay the country that had given him such a good way of life.

Our hearts go out to his family and those friends who have been privileged to know him so well. But they should be consoled by knowing Van left us at a time when he will be missed by so many thousands.

It is suggested that flowers be omitted and any donation sent to the H. Milton Van Dyke Pediatric Memorial in care of Memorial Hospital. It will be a continuation of the work he took so great a part in during his lifetime. It will be dedicating a memorial to a man who exemplified the spirit of "Service Above Self."—L.A.C.

Brown OKs Budget of $2.8 Billion

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown signed the $2,888,378,806 state budget Monday without deleting a cent.

The Democratic governor, who has the right to strike out legislative appropriations from the budget bill, called the 1962-63 spending program "a good tight budget."

More than $200 million over the 1961-62 budget, the appropriations bill is the largest in the state's history. In recent years, however, each succeeding budget has been a record-breaker.

* * * *

IT WAS NOT the same budget Brown originally submitted to the legislature.

When he stepped before the lawmakers in February, he asked for $2,885,523,247.

But Republicans in the Assembly, holding out for substantial cuts, refused to vote with the Democratic majority and provide the 54 votes needed for lower house passage of the spending bill.

* * * *

TIME RAN out on the regular budget session and Brown was forced to submit another spending program to a special session of the legislature.

At the close of the regular budget session, the spending program had increased by $6 million. Brown's second budget proposal was $2.88 billion, a million less than the amount finally approved by the legislature.

The governor said the budget "reflects the determination of my administration to provide in an adequate fashion for the most pressing needs of a state that soon will be the most populous in the nation.

"It also reflects an equal determination to achieve these objectives within the limits of purposeful economy and sound fiscal practice," he said.

The budget goes into effect July 1.

FBI Wants Bandit Who Returned Loot

ATLANTA (AP)—A bank bandit returned his $12,030 loot by mail Monday but that didn't get the FBI off his trail.

"He robbed the bank and he had a gun," said Special FBI Agent John A. McMahon. "We still have to track him down and bring him to trial. The judge may give consideration to the restitution."

Mrs. Ruby, a clerk at the Bank of Georgia, opened a wrapped cardboard box and spilled out an assortment of $1 to $100 bills. Then she hurried over to her supervisor.

Together, they opened a second package and called vice president James H. Dickson, Jr. who tallied the two bundles of bills.

The total was the exact amount that a robber took from the bank Friday.

That left the holdup man out 52 cents—the amount of the postage.

The holdup was the 25th in 13 months of a Georgia bank of savings and loan association, with previous hauls totaling about $300,000.

It was the first ever, as far as investigators could remember, in which the loot was returned.

Gov. Brown Commutes Killer's Death Sentence

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown Monday commuted the death sentence of condemned killer Stanley W. Fitzgerald, 41, a man who said he'd rather die than spend his life in prison.

Brown commuted Fitzgerald's sentence to life in prison without possibility of parole on recommendation of the California Supreme Court.

Fitzgerald, of Eureka, was scheduled to die April 25 in San Quentin's gas chamber.

He was convicted of first-degree murder for killing George Bonn of San Francisco in August 1960 during a robbery near Truckee.

Because Fitzgerald had a prior felony conviction, Brown couldn't commute his sentence without approval of the state court.

U.S. to Test Variety of Missiles With Atom Warheads in Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI—Nuclear warheads for all types of U.S. intercontinental and submarine-launched ballistic missiles will be exploded in the coming Pacific test series, barring last minute changes, informed sources said Monday.

The tests, America's first in the atmosphere and space since 1958, are slated to start in a few days and to run for two or three months.

Explosive forces unleashed in the missile warhead tests apparently will range from a half megaton to about five megatons. One megaton is equal to the force of 1 million tons of TNT.

President Kennedy has said that a key goal of the tests is to improve the nuclear yield per pound of weight in U. S. atomic weapons.

Warheads of the Atlas, Titan and Minuteman intercontinental missiles will be detonated. Under plans, a Polaris missile with a live nuclear warhead also will be fired from an atomic-powered submarine.

An Air Force proposal to launch an actual Atlas with a nuclear warhead from Vandenburg, Calif., into the Pacific test area was rejected, informed sources said.

As plans stand, it was reported that the Atlas, Titan and Minuteman warheads will be boosted by other rockets high over the Pacific and then detonated.

The Atlas warhead yields about three megatons, the Titan about four megatons and the Minuteman more than a half megaton. A later Titan, going into operation next year, will carry a five-megaton warhead.

The Polaris warhead is rated at more than one-half megaton.

Redistrict Study Post to Sullivan

Long Beach City Councilman Emmett Sullivan Monday was named chairman of a five-member committee appointed by the County Board of Supervisors to study the possible reapportionment of the county's five supervisorial districts.

The committee was named last Dec. 27, but held its first meeting Monday. Provision for the committee was established last spring by state law which calls for a review of sizes and populations of the county districts every 10 years.

Sullivan said the committee will prepare a report and make its recommendations to the Board of Supervisors before Aug. 31. The recommendations could change the boundaries of some supervisorial districts.

"We in Long Beach are in a good position, with two supervisors on the board," Sullivan said. "Naturally, I hope to maintain the status quo. We should continue to have two voices on the Board of Supervisors because Long Beach is a heavy contributor to the economy of the county."

determine its course as it sped through space.

The signals showed the vehicle's course would carry it about 900 miles above the top edge of the moon and land it on the back side at 8:55 a.m. EST Thursday. The impact point will be at a lunar latitude of 6 degrees south and longitude of 216 degrees east.

The control malfunction caused the spacecraft to tumble through space, unable to perform vital functions such as locking one antenna toward the earth and another toward the sun for stabilization.

At midnight EST Monday, the vehicle was more than 60,000 miles from the earth, traveling slightly more than 6,000 miles an hour, the approximate rate it is expected to maintain until impact.

* * * *

AS THE CRAFT sped away from earth, its speed gradually decreased from the initial 24,500 miles per hour. The continuing pull of earth's gravity slowed it to the 6,000-mile-an-hour clip.

A spokesman for the jet propulsion laboratory, which made the craft, said the trouble apparently developed in a clock-like electronic device activated a few seconds before launching.

Polaris Support Bases Selected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced Monday selection of two bases in Washington state and the naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, to support Polaris submarines expected to be sent into the Pacific by late next year.

The Puget Sound Naval Shipyard at Bremerton, Wash., was chosen as site of a submarine overhaul facility and the Naval Ammunition Depot at Bangor, Wash., as the site for a Polaris missile-assembly facility.

Pearl Harbor was picked as the location for training of Polaris crews to be assigned in the Pacific.

GARRISON ASKS BROWN CENSURE

Charles M. Garrison, GOP Assembly candidate in the East Long Beach 39th District (old 70th), took note Monday of current frictions among Democrats and their California Democratic Council, particularly that "some candidates have repudiated actions of their own organization."

Garrison said he looked forward to these candidates' repudiation of Governor Brown "for his unparalleled expansion of bureaucracy . . . spendthrift philosophy and financial irresponsibility as exemplified by the fact that his own finance director resigned after vainly protesting the reckless mismanagement of the state's finances." His successor, said Garrison, is an ex-newspaperman with no previous experience in the field of finance.

"I'm glad to see," said Garrison, "that some of the candidates (Democrats) embrace the Republican point of view in regard to retaining the House Un-American Activities Committee and our refusal to admit Red China to the United Nations."

Why LONG BEACH Needs A 750-Bed Naval Hospital!

The citizens of Long Beach must become aroused and act NOW. April 30, 1962, is the deadline for Senate study.

Long Beach needs a 750-bed Naval Hospital to serve the Air Corps, Army, Coast Guard, Marines and Navy, and their dependents.

Each month 300 Navy personnel from Long Beach are sent to the hospital facility at San Diego, as there are no available Navy hospital beds in Long Beach.

The antiquated U.S.S. Haven Hospital Ship cannot satisfy the need. Our Long Beach Naval Station must be protected for Long Beach.

One-third of every dollar spent in Long Beach for goods and services comes from Long Beach Naval Installations.

If an adequate hospital is Senate approved in Long Beach, at least 13 additional active ships will be based here bringing 6,000 more payroll checks to be spent in Long Beach.

A 60-acre site has been reserved by the city of Long Beach for the building of a new U. S. Naval Hospital. This project has been heartily endorsed by many civic organizations, and the Navy. This hospital will also provide care for the wives, children, and other dependents of service personnel.

Money from our citizens is NOT needed

Shah of Iran Pilots, Lands Jet Aircraft

BURBANK (AP) — The Shah of Iran piloted a 550-mile-an-hour jet transport for 45 minutes Monday on the first morning of his three-day visit to Southern California.

Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlevi took over the controls of the Lockheed Jet Star after pilot Charles Tucker of Saratoga took the craft off the runway at Lockheed air terminal.

Wearing a light-weight business suit, the wiry monarch flew the plane to the desert resort of Palm Springs, 130 miles away. He landed the craft and took it up again for the return flight to Burbank.

The monarch and his party drove back to the Beverly Hills Hotel where the shah had lunch with his Empress Farah. They are scheduled to visit 20th Century-Fox studio today.

Stockpile Disposal Plan Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee Monday proposed that the government dispose of billions of dollars worth of surplus material by channeling it to defense contractors for conversion into military supplies.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., chairman of an armed services subcommittee which is investigating the nation's stockpiling of strategic materials, outlined the plan in a statement at the start of public hearings:

"We are recommending to the President that in order to reduce these tremendous inventories, payment for various materials purchased by the Defense Department for the current multi-billion defense program be made at least in part by the government furnishing those materials to the supplier in question which would be necessary for that supplier to have in order to fill the order in question."

* * * *

SUBCOMMITTEE counsel R. C. Coburn said, as an example, the government could provide rubber to a defense contractor who makes military tires and tubes. The price of the raw rubber would be deducted from the amount the government paid for the tires and tubes.

Coburn said a version of the plan is being used in production of items for the foreign aid program.

Symington said he would introduce legislation which would be required before the plan could be put into effect.

The Senate investigation was started after President Kennedy said an inquiry was needed to determine whether the stockpile is overloaded.

New Election Seen in Argentina Crisis

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Jose Maria Guido, facing renewed threats of a military takeover, withdrew from Congress Monday night his request for two more years in office.

Acting Interior Minister Ernesto Lanusse declared this meant that before the week is out Guido would call for new presidential elections. The law stipulates the voting must take place within 90 days of the announcement.

* * * *

GUIDO'S sudden move, coming amid reports he was yielding to military demands that he wipe out election triumphs by followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron, was understood to be part of the preparation for annulling results of the March 18 vote.

Peronists won a landslide victory in balloting for provincial and congressional offices, touching off the prolonged crisis that brought the nation to the brink of civil war.

Military anger over the Peronist gains led to the overthrow of President Arturo Frondizi April 28 and his banishment to a remote naval base.

* * * *

GUIDO took office the next day and began to press Congress to pass a measure giving him until May 1, 1964—the end of Frondizi's term—to call elections for a successor.

The Senate had already passed the bill and the Chamber of Deputies was to act on it when Guido sent a message withdrawing the request.

The interior minister said Congress would meet in a windup session before May 1, the date the newly elected Peronists were scheduled to take office.

proposed naval hospital would contain 310 beds for active duty Navy and Marine personnel, 50 for Army personnel, 50 for Air Force personnel and 90 for patients now being cared for in the Fort MacArthur Hospital.

The Fort MacArthur Hospital, Berry told doctors, is slated to be reduced to a dispensary upon completion of new hospital construction.

Dr. Cheney said that the need for 500 beds can be readily understood since the naval hospital is actually to be an armed services hospital.

This information had not been given to doctors before, Dr. Cheney said.

Earlier, Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, said any dispute over the size of the proposed naval hospital would jeopardize the project.

Tell World of Liberty, RFK Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Monday the United States should encourage other nations to set up peace corps and at the same time send teams of lecturers abroad to explain social progress being made here.

Kennedy said the teams of lecturers should be formed to tour universities and confer with newspaper editors, students, labor leaders, farm and cooperative leaders, businessmen and government officials.

The attorney general addressed the annual Associated Press lunch held in conjunction with the Diamond Jubilee Convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA), a four-day meeting looking to the long-range future of daily journalism and improved communication.

"In my judgment, unless we are able in the next decade to convince the people of foreign countries — and particularly the students — that we are true to our ideals and that prosperity and decent health can be achieved in a system that preserves individual liberty, we will lose the cold war no matter how much money we spend on aid," Kennedy said.

BRAWLEY—Two children, injured in a highway collision which killed nine persons, remained in critical condition here Monday night.

They were Beatrice, 9, and Jacob Urias Jr., 6, whose parents and two brothers and two sisters perished in the smashup which occurred Sunday night.

The California Highway Patrol said a northbound station wagon carrying nine persons, who had spent the Easter weekend with relatives in Mexicali, was rammed by a sedan on a curve west of the desert community of Westmorland on U.S. 99, 10 miles west of here.

Seven persons in the station wagon and two of the four passengers in the sedan died.

FIVE VICTIMS were pronounced dead on the scene of the crash and four others died in Pioneer Memorial Hospital.

Chief Deputy Coroner Richard Ramirez identified the dead as Jacob Urias, 35, Indio; his wife, Victoria; their children, Benjamin, 4, Rosavella, 8, Dolores 7, and Raymundo, 18 months; Frederico Gallego Medina, 20, Jose Palomo, of Termal and also Sacramento, and Tomas Novello Gonzalez, about 20 from the Coachella Valley.

All but Palomo and Gonzalez were in the station wagon driven by Urias. Ramirez and Medina and Gonzalez were contracted Mexican farm workers.

Two others in the Palomo car were injured. They were in fair condition Monday night and still unidentified.

Guatemala Alerted on Cuba Action

GUATEMALA (AP) — The government said Monday night a Cuban ship carrying guns, saboteurs and explosives was moving toward this Central American area.

A communique said the Guatemalan armed forces have been alerted to prevent any attempts to invade or unload the arms on the Guatemalan coast.

The announcement said the government of neighboring Honduras also had been warned of the danger.

The communique came the day after President Miguel Ydigoras extended for 30 days the country's state of siege—modified martial law—in effect since Jan. 24.

Ex-Convict Confesses Killing Baby-Sitter

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A young ex-convict confessed Monday that he hired a pretty teen-ager as a baby-sitter, drove her to a lonely road and killed her when she resisted his advances.

Kenneth M. Slyter, 26, a pest control worker, tried to kill himself by gulping DDT mixed with kerosene when he found police closing in on him. He was rushed to Baptist Hospital, treated and then jailed.

Police said Slyter, whose wife has one child and is pregnant, led 15-year-old Sandra Holderfield to believe he needed a baby-sitter in what he said was his fashionable home. He came by her house in a stolen car Saturday night, picked her up, and drove straight to a lonely dirt road north of Jackson.

Detective Chief M. B. Pierce said Slyter had not been questioned thoroughly about what took place but said Sandra apparently put up a fierce struggle. Pierce said Slyter admitted clubbing her in the face with a tire tool and running over her with a car.

30,000 Moslems Hunt SAO Men

ALGIERS (UPI)—Thirty thousand Moslem security police moved into Algiers, Bone, Oran and Constantine Monday with orders to shoot any member of the Secret Army Organization (SAO) on sight. It was the first time Moslems were sent into action against the SAO.

The SAO reacted to the shoot-to-kill order by killing 10 persons and wounding six, far below the 30-a-day toll since Jan. 1. One of the victims was the secretary to the Oran police chief. He was found shot through the neck and his body partly burned. The SAO also exploded three plastic bombs in Algiers in late afternoon but there were no casualties.

Ban March Quiet

LONDON (AP)—Thousands of foot-sore marchers carrying ban-the-bomb placards filed almost silently into a square before the U. S. Embassy here Monday night and held a 10-minute prayer for peace.

More than 200 police cordoned off the building and the demonstration—one of the biggest ever staged in London's "Little America" area — was quiet and orderly.

It took place a few hours after a mass rally in Hyde Park which climaxed the annual Easter march to London from Britain's nuclear weapons arsenal at Aldermaston, 50 miles southwest of the capital. Police estimated more than 40,000 people, including many sightseers enjoying the Easter holiday sunshine, attended the rally.

Clay Gets Thanks

BERLIN (UPI) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay quietly celebrated his 65th birthday Monday and West Germans used the occasion to pour out their thanks for the way he has aided the nation in times of stress.

CLAY

President Heinrich Luebke and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were among the many who sent personal messages. West Berlin newspapers recalled his eploits with words and pictures. "Thank you, general," said Berlin's Telegraf in an English language headline.

Clay attended a small party given by the U. S. Mission but spent most of the day at his villa on Lake Wannsee. He told the people in a brief message: "My greatest wish is that Berliners should no longer need to worry about their city, about their existence, and that the Berlin problem finally would be solved."

Court Gives States Reapportionment Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court told state courts Monday that they have the authority to rule on claims that distribution of state legislative seats violates the federal Constitution.

Directing Michigan's supreme court to rule in such a case, the high tribunal thus added a footnote to its March 26 landmark decision that federal courts may rule on the same issue.

But Monday's unsigned, 7-1 majority decision, which gave no reasons, seemed to put the state courts on notice not to duck the constitutional questions involved. It was explained in a concurring opinion, by Justices Tom C. Clark and Potter Stewart, in these words:

"Today's (Monday) order simply reflects our belief that the Michigan supreme court should be the first to consider the merits of the federal constitutional claim, free from any doubts as to its justiciability."

The state tribunal, in 1960, dismissed a suit by August Scholle, acting as an individual and as president of the Michigan State AFL-CIO.

Schools charged that 1942 amendments to the Michigan constitution revamping senate districts violated the federal Constitution's guarantees of equal protection. He said the law wiped out a requirement of periodic reapportionment, and, with but two changes, "perpetually froze the unconstitutional malapportionment that existed at its enactment."

His vote, "compared with that of the citizen in the most over-represented Michigan district," Scholle said, was but 1/13th of a vote in 1960 and will likely be but 1/25th in 1970.

Justice John M. Harlan, dissenting in sharp words with Monday's decision, took issue with the majority's instruction to the Michigan tribunal to act in the light of last month's ruling in the Tennessee reapportionment case.

Harlan said the March 26 decision merely centered on establishing the federal court's right to decide reapportionment disputes. The majority in that case, he said, studiously avoided "the discrete federal constitutional question on which the present case turns,"— which is fair distribution of legislative seats.

"In my view the matter should not be left in this equivocal posture," Harlan said.

Do you know why intelligent people suffer more headaches than others?

Doctors agree: Many suffer headache pain because of their finest personality traits. Intelligent perfectionists can drive themselves too conscientiously. It's the people who do too much, care too much, who are most likely to suffer. These are findings in modern headache clinics, where specialists have learned more in the last few years than in the entire history of medicine. Now, too, modern research produces a remarkable new medication for headache relief—Micrainin. Unlike other popular headache remedies, Micrainin contains no aspirin, and it does contain Pyradine-3* and N-acetyl-p-aminophenol, advanced, pain-relieving ingredients not present in any other. For the kind of relief you've always looked for but never found, try new Micrainin—the first different headache relief in 20 years. Get Micrainin at your druggist.

Fire Truck, Auto Collide

A 54-year-old woman was injured Monday when a fire truck collided with the auto in which she was riding at Anaheim Street and Cedar Avenue.

Mrs. Corinne Auguston, 54, of 1925 Golden Ave., was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

The fire truck, with its siren blaring, was driven by fireman Ray Swartz. Neither Swartz nor the other three firemen on the truck were injured.

The panel-type truck from the downtown station at 100 Magnolia Ave. was on its way to a minor blaze in a fumigater at the Salvation Army headquarters, 1340 Alamitos Ave.

Sure-footed BRAKES—Big 11-inch fade-resistant brakes with 230 square inches of durable brake lining area. Bonded linings last much longer than riveted linings used in other cars.

Lasting LUSTRE-BOND COLORS—Hardest automobile finish known. Two coats of enamel are baked on over two coats of wet sanded primer. A quick washing restores Newport's bright "showroom-new" look.

Durable DECORATOR FABRICS—Beautifully color keyed to exterior enamels. Fine weaves stitched with a finished look. Wear like iron, too.

Door-to-door CARPETING—Deep pile carpeting door-to-door—front and back—gives you luxury you won't find in many cars for this price.

Safety-Rim WHEELS—Safety rims anchor tires securely to the wheels. You ride with greater assurance. An exclusive in Chrysler's price class.

Sordid Drama Unfolds in Booking Room

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Friday Drunks Keep Police Busy

By GEORGE ROBESON

It's a drab room in the basement. The lights are on 24 hours a day because someone is always there, working or waiting for business.

The business conducted in this room might be offensive to the public eye—and embarrassing to the customers—so the room is hidden underground.

This is the booking room of the Long Beach Police Department, and its furniture is simple: An L-shaped counter and a low wooden bench along one wall. The wall behind the bench is scarred by handcuffs on the wrists of prisoners who have sat there waiting to be booked.

"Every citizen of Long Beach should be able to spend a few hours here, just to watch," Booking Sergeant Robert A. Tally has said. "It might do them good. It would be an education."

It's Friday afternoon, the beginning of the 3:30-to-11:30 p.m. shift at the booking desk. Friday is payday for thousands of workers in the Long Beach area, which makes it the busiest night of the week for police.

* * * *

THE SHIFT'S first customer is an easy one—a happy, cooperative drunk.

He's especially easy to process because the police don't have to question him to determine his name, age, address, place of birth and other information that goes in the big book on the desk—he's already in it.

He was released from jail just four hours earlier (he had been arrested on a drunk charge) and the booking officer simply recopies the information — same name, same address, same charge.

"Is it too late for supper?" he asks.

"Yes, I think you just missed it," says Officer Otis Lyon. "They gave you lunch just before you were released today, didn't they?"

"But I'm hungry again," the drunk says.

* * * *

THE OFFICER who arrested him hands the prisoner four cigarettes as they walk toward the elevator to the jail.

Two detectives bring in a burglary suspect. He is short and stocky, powerfully built—a former professional wrestler. Unlike the drunks, he says nothing to the officers. He doesn't joke with them, or insult them. He has been here before.

Officer Bob White flicks a glance toward the clock on the wall. It's 6:45 p.m.

"Time for the weekenders," he says. "Any minute now."

* * * *

THE WEEKENDERS are persons who have been sentenced to spend weekends in jail. The idea of the weekend sentence is to punish a man with imprisonment, without interfering with his ability to earn a living.

The police do not think much of the system. Officers, for the most part, consider it another example of "criminal-coddling."

The weekenders this night include men convicted of rape, embezzlement, drunk driving, burglary, possession of narcotics, forgery, purse-snatching, robbery and child-molesting.

* * * *

A MAN in his early 20s checks in for his weekend sentence. He has brought along a couple of novels to read in his cell—"Flesh Pit" and "Motel Mistress."

He is serving four weekends for rape.

Three youths are brought in. They are sneeringly defiant. The chin of one is barely covered by a small beard. They hurl grinning insults at the officers. Getting booked for intoxication is a big kick.

"Hey, Cool Breeze," one of them says to Officer Lyons. "When you gonna take these handcuffs off, Man?"

* * * *

AN UNCONSCIOUS man is carried into the booking room and laid on the floor. He was found lying on a street. He smells of alcohol, but police search his arms carefully for needle marks. There is the chance he has passed out from an overdose of narcotics instead of wine—and, if so, he will need medical attention immediately.

"What's the bail," asks a 28-year-old man in a sleeveless leather motorcycle jacket.

"It's twenty-one dollars for plain drunk," says an officer. The man doesn't have $21. He'll take the jail sentence, probably five days.

"You want me to lose my job, is that what you want?" he asks.

"I can't help that," the officer says. "You should have thought of that."

"Well, I hope you're happy, costing me my job."

* * * *

OFFICER Steve Austin brings in a drunken sailor. The story of the arrest is on their faces—a black eye on Austin's, a bloody nose on the sailor's.

The shift is ending now, at 11:30 p.m. They have booked 24 persons, 13 of them for intoxication.

"What am I gettin' arrested for?" asks the sailor. "I didn't do anything."

"You punched this officer in the eye," says one of the policemen.

"Well, what am I gettin' arrested for?"

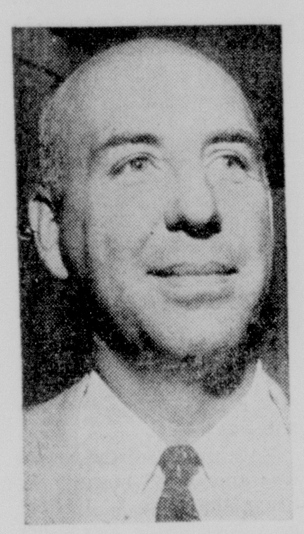
L. B. Airport Chief Takes Post in North Carolina



NICHOLAS DALLAS
Change of Positions

By LEE CRAIG
Aviation-Military Editor

Thomas A. Raffety, Long Beach director of aeronautics for the past five years, will leave that post on May 15 to become airport manager at Charlotte, N. C.

His successor will be Nicholas Dallas, former veteran Navy pilot and currently manager of the commercial division of the city gas department.

Raffety, who took over the city aeronautics job in August, 1957, had been head of the airport and marine design section in the city engineer's office prior to his appointment.

* * * *

HE WAS NAMED "Airport Manager of the Year" in 1961 by the California Association of Airport Executives after a study of development and operation of member airports.

In a statement Monday, City Manager John R. Mansell gave Raffety credit for significant progress in the development of Long Beach Municipal Airport.

"He transformed what was once a more or less stagnant airport facility into one which is making real economic gains for the city," Mansell commented.

"For example, 18 leases negotiated during the past three and a half years will return a total of $1,739,430 to the city in rental payments during their terms.

THOMAS A. RAFFETY
Leaving Long Beach

* * * *

"OF MORE importance, these 18 leases will provide employment for 367 persons, with a total annual payroll of nearly $1,850,000."

Dallas, his successor, has been a Long Beach resident since 1932. A graduate of Poly High School, he attended the University of Oregon and Southwestern Law School.

He first worked for the city as a lifeguard in the late 1930s, later serving as business manager of the City Health Department and assistant office manager of the gas department.

Dallas, 45, now a commander in the Naval Reserve, served in both World War II and the Korean conflict and has logged more than 11,500 hours of flying time.

His experience also includes a term as assistant airport manager in Eugene, Ore., and as a representative for aircraft distributors in the Pacific Northwest.

Dallas lives at 6451 Mantova St. with his wife and nine-year-old son, Scotty.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

THIS loyal resident back after a few days elsewhere doesn't like to think Long Beach is for the birds, but bird notes sprung up all over the place as soon as I hit the office.

First, about Mrs. Eva Lampson, City College BTD dept. head, and what happened when she turned off Redondo Ave. onto Wilton. She promptly applied the brakes and the driver of a pick-up, following closely, pulled to the left and stopped, a big frown changing to a wide grin.

Both cars patiently waited until a rather nondescript waddling duck made his way west and disappeared into some shubbery. Drivers of six cars piled up behind and honked impatiently. They couldn't see the duck.

ADD bird notes and signs of spring: Build n' Save has trellises for sale, but discovered a nest with bird's eggs nicely hung in one trellis. Sale was held up until the birds hatch.

Not so happy is a report from a Long Beach gardener, who says he has been finding many dead birds about his place. Even a dove was in the lot. He wonders if insecticides could be to blame.

And finally, an answer to a question posed here a while back about mynah birds laying in captivity. Ray A. Kersh says that this does happen, but infrequently. A woman in Burbank had a pair of mynahs which produced young. And Mrs. Nadine Saracino, 141 LaVerne Ave., reports she owned a mynah which laid seven eggs, all the size of golf balls.

That takes care of the birds.

YOUNGSTERS sometimes credit the Middle Ages with incidents, etc., which we adults experienced. And when they find out about that, they look at us with disconcerting awe.

Case in point is conversation between Sherm Williams and his son, Michael, 7, as they rode on Pacific Coast Hwy.

Suddenly Mike exclaimed: "Oh boy, look! An old days car." He pointed at a Model A Ford.

"Yes, son," said Sherm. "My first car was just like that."

"Why did you have an old days car?" asked Mike.

"Because that was what they drove when I was young."

"You mean you drove in those old days?" demanded the boy.

"Well, I guess so," said Sherm.

"Boy!" he said. After a brief silence: "And you're still alive!"

DRIFTWOOD—Sign of the times: Small railroad depot at Banning has this sign on trackside: HELLO-GOODBYE. . . . Only luck keeps alive people like two women observed on E. Second St. yesterday a.m. They started talking as one stood in the center of the east-west roadway and one in the center of the west-east roadway. Eventually they got together at the center line and finished their chatter.

Semi-annual period of confusion is at hand—in this case Daylight Saving Time, which goes into effect Sunday, April 29. Clocks will be advanced an hour. . . . Long Beach event will be held in Washington, D. C. May 3, when the annual reunion dinner of the local Chamber of Commerce Armed Services committee will be held at the Army and Navy Club. Many military men who served in "brass" jobs here over the years will be there to meet Dr. Orville Cole, Harry Krusz and Clin Furrer of the local chamber. . . .

Maybe you didn't know that most of the dry cleaners here will clean U. S. Flags free of charge. With Memorial Day, Flag Day, etc., coming up, it's a service you might want to use.

Chamber Speech

Dr. Sam M. Lambert, director of the National Education Assn. research division, will speak when Chamber of Commerce Community Forum meets at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday in Crown Cafeteria, 101 Alamitos Ave.

Embezzler Sentence Delayed

Execution of the sentence of John R. Hendrickson, 43, of San Rafael convicted April 12, 1960 of embezzling $3.7 million from a Long Beach bank was continued Monday by U.S. District Judge Peirson M. Hall until May 21.

Hendrickson was sentenced to 25 years in federal prison. He lost an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, but is free on $50,000 bond pending execution of the sentence.

* * * *

HIS ATTORNEY, Robert Carter of Fresno, said he will file a motion for reduction of sentence. The motion normally would be heard by the trial judge, U.S. District Judge Alexander Bix of New York, who was sitting in the Los Angeles court as a visiting judge at the time of the trial.

If Judge Bix is not available, Judge Hall indicated he would hear the motion to reduce the sentence on May 21.

Jaycees to Install

Don Robinson, newly elected president of the Downey Junior Chamber of Commerce will be installed at the Tahetian Village at 7 p.m. June 30. He will succeed Gil Sais.

FBI AGENT

Special Agent Laurant L. Wheldon, formerly of Long Beach, recently received Service Award Key in Miami, Fla., for 20 years' service with FBI. Wheldon was graduated from Poly High in 1931, and attended Long Beach Junior College. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hilleard T. Basinger, reside at 3760 Olive Ave.

T. I. Firm, PUC Clash on Fares

Conflict developed Monday between the State Public Utilities Commission staff and Terminal Island Transit Co. over a proposed fare increase for bus service linking downtown Long Beach with Terminal Island.

Pete Drake, owner of the firm, estimated he would incur a $46,695 loss this year if the present fare structure of 20 cents cash or 3 tokens for 50 cents is left unchanged.

Drake asked for authority to boost the charges to 25 cents cash or 5 tokens for $1. He cited increased wages and other operating costs, plus an order for three new buses at $29,999 each.

* * * *

HIS TESTIMONY occupied most of the first day's session of a commission hearing before Examiner Clinton Abernathy in Veterans Memorial Building.

A PUC engineer, Glenn E. Newton, distributed copies of his own report estimating the company would earn $21,840 during the next 12 months under the present fare structure for a 13 per cent rate of return.

The proposed rate would result in a profit of $36,330, or 21.7 per cent, according to Newton's figures. He is expected to testify today.

Ex-Navy Secretary Says U. S. Rocketry to Pass Russia Soon

By VINT MADER

Development of the Saturn rocket will be a breakthrough in U.S. rocketry placing this country far ahead of Russia in the penetration of space, Charles S. Thomas, president of the Irvine Co., said Monday night.

The Saturn will have twice as much thrust as the most powerful Soviet rocket, he said in an interview before addressing the 71st annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the Lafayette Hotel.

"We'll soon be ahead of the Russians in outer space," said Thomas, former secretary of the Navy, "in my opinion in the very near future."

Speaking on the meeting's theme, "Breakthrough 1962," Thomas traced the "breakthroughs" made by both Long Beach and the United States Navy through the years.

He recalled that he first came to Long Beach in the summer of 1911.

"So I've seen Long Beach expand from a small resort town to a metropolitan city and one of which you can all be proud."

He noted he also has seen the Navy break through into the nuclear age.

At the meeting, Dr. Orville W. Cole was installed as President of the chamber, succeeding Kenneth L. (Ken) Hemphill. Other new officers installed included Robert L. Mytinger, first vice-president; Robert L. Irvin, second vice-president, and Jerald S. Jacobs, treasurer.

Sixteen board members also took office.

Thomas recalled that in his own years as secretary of the Navy he had seen the service change from oil to nuclear power and from subsonic to supersonic speeds.

He also recalled the days when Long Beach was the home port of a Pacific fleet that was built around battleships.

"Today," said Thomas, "our carriers are mobile air bases and our nuclear-powered submarines are equipped with Polaris missiles.

"These are the most modern weapons systems in history."

Flanking Thomas are Dr. Orville W. Cole (right), who was installed as president of the Chamber, and Kenneth L. Hemphill, Cole's predecessor.

The Wild Waves Say

By IOLA MASTERSON

MONDAY WAS come-back-to-reality day for a lot of spring-flingers. For instance, among the Ebell Juniors crowd, Donna and Al Nelson took their trailer and pointed it in the general direction of Palm Springs for an easy going time.

Carol and Cliff Slosson and Nancy and Dale Drum, with their offspring, planned to spend a lazy week at Thunderbird Hotel. Phyllis and Neil Buchanan and the children also took several days off for a desert vacation.

* * * *

CONSIDERING what a fine spring vacation week, weatherwise, we had right here, topped off with that perfectly gorgeous Easter Sunday, I am not quite as envious as usual reporting other people's joy jaunts. On the other hand, it was probably a wonderful week Doris and Jim Wood had at charming Ingleside Inn, Palm Springs.

MARY MARKS wrote that she had hoped to send in some publicity on the Long Beach Calendar of Events. However, she confesses, the publicity will be delayed due to an event of her own. She took time off for a visit to Lakewood General Hospital where Melinda May was born. Dad Earl and Melinda's sisters, Mary Ann and Jennifer Lee, all figured this event topped anything on any other calendar, anyhow.

Live Plants Add Beauty

Busy U. S. homemakers, aware that there's no substitute for the natural beauty of thriving living plants, are as careful about selecting and placing them as they are with furniture, floor covering, draperies and other accessories.

Here's a brief refresher course designed to make it easier to choose house plants for varied locations and prolong your enjoyment of them both indoors and out.

1) Save time by selecting professionally grown plants that have been suitably conditioned in porous clay pots for climate prevailing where you live. And keep them in clay containers that most closely duplicate the growing conditions plants enjoy in the good earth.

2) Be sure the plants you pick are suitable for the locations in which you wish to place them. Your florist or garden center can give you more detailed advice, but following these simple rules will help you make satisfactory selections.

Takes Skill

Don't make the mistake of applying make-up too sparingly in your attempt to achieve a natural-looking effect. It's skillful technique rather than a minimum of cosmetics that creates this effect.

Alicia Hart Give, Gain Niceties Graciously

Many women reach the prime of life without ever learning how to accept a compliment graciously. When a remark of sincere appreciation is made to some of us, embarrassment often brings forth some pretty silly responses.

When a friend, for instance, says, "What a pretty hat!" we may find ourselves claiming that it was bought a year ago at a sale and is just about ready for the rag bag. We don't mean to be ungracious. Yet what we say derogates the good taste of a friend. A simple "thank you" would have created a much more pleasant atmosphere.

* * * *

LEARN to accept compliments in a pretty, unflustered manner, the same way you would accept the offer of a piece of candy or a helping hand in stepping off a bus. Poise and good manners reap their own rewards.

GROWN RIGHT IN YOUR OWN HOME

What could be more fun—more enthusiastically taste tempting—than to grow your own cocktail tomato salad right in your own kitchen, den or patio. You can do just that now with the Punch 'n' Gro plant starter kit. —(Photo courtesy Northrup, King & Co.)

Summer Salad Grows in Your Yard

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I, P-T Food Editor

Vegetable gardening can take on a fashionable flavor this year with luscious, bite-size cocktail tomatoes.

A mouth-watering assortment of Red Cherry, Red Plum and Yellow Pear tomatoes—all of the minature variety—now is available for the first time in Punch'n Gro plant starter kits.

The cocktail tomato kit is being marketed for the housewife who wants modern exciting salads and hors d'oeuvres for family and friends. The tiny tomatoes blend brightly into salads, giving her planned meals an exotic touch.

Because the seeds are evenly spaced at the right depth for best germination, the pre-seeded kits are easy to grow. They are also equipped this year with a special window extension, providing each kit with maximum sunshine.

* * * *

COCKTAIL tomato kits should be started four to six weeks ahead of the outdoor planting season. When thinned out, each kit should provide a minimum of 18 sturdy seedling plants, suitable for transplanting outdoors.

Summer-time salads require pre-season planning and planting. Miniature tomatoes — started indoors now — can highlight salads and entire meals in the summer months ahead.

Over 20 selections will be offered this year in Punch'n Gro kits including other vegetables and flowers. Already fertilized and with a special "soil," the kits retail for 49 cents each and are available at most supermarkets and some variety stores.

Let's Explore Your Mind

1. Many people just can't change!

Probably false. Careful tests of 38 persons in five different areas showed that in some matters they were rigid while in others they were quite flexible. The director of the study felt that ease or difficulty in changing depended not only on the particular matter involved, but on the way the person happened to feel at the time he was given the chance to change. Other authorities would question this last point. At any rate, it's important to understand your emotional make-up.

* * * *

2. Should you always help those in trouble?

No, not always. But this is a loaded question. You can and should help some people who are in trouble. Others whom you could not help could be helped by someone else. Still others, apparently, nobody can help until they can recognize their need for help and accept it. Success in human relations depends largely upon knowing when you can help, and when you should stay out of a situation.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Heart Valve Transplants Successful in Four Cases

By BEN ZINSER

Baylor University surgeons have successfully transplanted heart valves from cadavers to four human patients.

The transplants were aortic valves—those situated in the lower left heart chamber. They allow blood to flow into the aorta, the great artery, but prevent it from backing up into the heart after it has been expelled.

ZINSER

In the operation, the defective aortic valve is left in place. The transplant is sewed into the descending aorta some distance from the heart itself—just beyond the arch of the great artery.

The grafted valve cuts leakage by about 70 per cent.

For reasons not clear the grafts have not been rejected as foreign tissue.

The surgeons say the measure is used only as a lifesaving action.

A DRUG called echothiopate iodide appears to be effective in the control of glaucoma, according to several reports in the American Journal of Ophthalmology.

The preparation also has proved to be an effective substitute for bifocals in cross-eye conditions.

One researcher reports that the compound "controlled intracular pressure (of glaucoma) previously uncontrolled by the combined therapy of other drugs."

Suds Before

To avoid that irritating redness when you shave your legs, first lather them with soapsuds. The suds will also make your razor slide along more smoothly and help protect you against infection from an accidental nick.

Hand Key in Squeeze

Hand two from the intercollegiate tournament is a fine example of the play called the delayed squeeze.

East and West should arrive at three no-trump. It is likely that West will be the declarer and that North will open the king of hearts.

Opening lead—♥ K

West will count eight sure tricks and will see that he can make his ninth by either breaking the diamond suit or a squeeze.

* * * *

IN ORDER to develop the squeeze for the ninth trick, West will have to set up the situation by giving the defense four tricks in hearts and clubs.

His best line of play is to let the king of hearts hold and to continue to duck as long as North continues the suit. Assuming North keeps on, South will have to discard a club on the fourth heart which West will win.

Now West leads a low club. South wins with the queen and returns either a diamond or a spade.

West wins that trick with his ace and plays the ace of clubs whereupon South will have run out of safe discards and will have to let either a diamond or a spade go.

DEAR ABBY

Champions Hand Holders

DEAR ABBY: We had a discussion about the letter in your column from "Neighbor Lady" who noticed, while cleaning her Venetian blinds, that a high school couple stood out in front of her house for an hour looking into each other's eyes, holding hands and acting so in love right there on the sidewalk. She asked if she should tell that girl's mother because that's the way trouble starts. And you gave her one of your smark aleck answers like, "You must have the cleanest Venetian blinds in town. Now go to work on your mind."

ABBY

Abby, I think you were wrong. You should have told her to tell the girl's mother. That IS the way trouble starts with those boy-crazy girls. Please retract your answer. — ANOTHER NEIGHBOR LADY.

DEAR ANOTHER LADY: Sorry, but I can't retract my answer. Just what did YOU do in high school that makes you suspicious of every teenage girl who holds hands with a boy, and in the open yet?

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for four months. I'm 44 and my wife is 40. She insists on doing her housework in her nightgown. I think she ought to put on some clothes, especially to hang the laundry on the line. She says it is old-fashioned and I say I don't care if it is. What is your opinion.—HOUSTON.

DEAR HOUSTON: I say she should put on a neat housedress every morning. Slobbishness is "old-fashioned" in modern living, too.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: When a father dies, and the mother is not able to pay for the funeral, which of their children should pay for the burial? Is it the duty of the sons or the daughters?—DEEP IN DOUBT.

DEAR DEEP: Each son and daughter should contribute according to his or her capabilities, for the deceased was the father of all of them.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: You are mistaken. Pizza is NOT pie. It is bread. And no one eats pizza with a knife and fork. An Italian would no more think of eating pizza with a fork than a Mexican would think of eating tacos with a fork. Thank you.—DIANE.

* * * *

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hot Line to Moscow

THE NEWEST WRINKLE in cold war negotiations is the "hot telephone."

A hot telephone line is one which links heads of state directly, enabling them in emergencies to get in immediate touch with one another.

Such a connection is suggested now between the White House in Washington and the Kremlin in Moscow.

THEORETICALLY, it would prevent wars that might otherwise result from accident. Let's take a homely example to illustrate the point:

You're standing in your back yard watering the grass, and your neighbor throws a brick over the wall and crunches your noodle. Ordinarily your inclination would be to climb up on the wall and throw the brick back. However, if you have a "hot" telephone on the patio table, you postpone striking back; instead you pick up the telephone, get your neighbor on the line instantly, and ask: "Did you mean to do it, Joe, or was it an accident?"

Similarly, the Russians might hit Hawaii with a missile.

"That's where the new 'hot' phone comes into play," explains a UPI correspondent at Geneva. "With rapid communications between the White House and the Kremlin . . . Mr. Kennedy could quickly determine whether a Soviet missile that landed in Hawaii . . . was one that went awry or was sent on purpose."

We can hear it now:

JACK: "Hello, Nick. I hate to complain, Nick. But you bumped us at Honolulu, Nick. Did you mean it, or was it just for fun, or what?"

NIKITA: "I just heard, Jack. If you knew how this embarrassed me. Someone was careless. Believe me, I'm going to find out how this happened. Why, I was telling the missile boys just the other day: Don't point those things toward—"

JACK: "Nick. Hold it a minute, Nick. I've got an interruption on this end." Pause. "Nick? This may sound tiresome. I hate to sound like a malcontent, or something like that. But they told me just now we have a bit more trouble."

NIKITA: "Yes?"

JACK: "It's Cleveland, Nick."

NIKITA: "What about Cleveland?"

JACK: "You just wiped it out, Nick."

NIKITA: "Golly, Jack, I can't tell you how sorry . . . Well, listen, give me some time. I'll get this thing straightened out."

THEY HANG UP, and Detroit, New York, and Omaha disappear in subsequent puffs of smoke — after which Jack calls back for one more try.

Much to his chagrin, the only reply he gets is a voice on a recording:

"I am sorry, but you've reached a disconnected number. Please dial information."

But it doesn't make any difference. Suddenly the line is dead on this end, too.

Dr. Van Dyke

DR. MILTON Van Dyke was a professional man who made important contributions to civic activities and advancement here.

The pediatrician, whose untimely death was a shocking incident this week, had served as president of the Rotary Club, and was active in the successful campaign to raise a large sum for equipping the local hospitals after the bond-financed expansion of the mid-fifties. He filled many positions of responsibility in the professional societies and was the first president of the outstanding Long Beach Children's Clinic, to which local pediatricians contribute extensive services, without charges, to the underprivileged.

Dr. Van Dyke left a fine record in Long Beach.

Pan-American Festival

LAKEWOOD'S ANNUAL Pan-American Festival, which is taking place this week and will end with a gigantic parade next Sunday, assumes greater significance this year than ever before.

During the past 12 months, communism has tightened its grip on the people of Cuba, and revolution and riot have rocked other Latin American nations. Friendship, understanding—and solidarity—among the nations of the Americas have become most important to the forming of a bulwark of defense against aggression and subversion in this hemisphere.

The Pan-American festival, honoring the nations of Latin America, has been performing a vital diplomatic function for 16 years. It is all the more effective now because of the fact that it preceded the present era of crisis and is not merely a program dreamed up in response to an emergency.

There is no telling how much influence the festival has exerted in maintaining good relations with Latin American countries.

Latin Americans who have attended the festival know that it is a genuine and heartfelt outpouring of goodwill.

Somewhere, someday at a critical juncture in hemispheric affairs, that knowledge could exert influence to a remarkable and unexpected degree.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Entire State Joins With L.B. as Beneficiary From Oil

LONG BEACH (CNS)—The fortunate position of Long Beach because of the vast oil pool located under and adjoining it, how it has whipped its subsidence problem, and its new lease on progress, were outlined in a previous column.

MacARTHUR

But the city of Long Beach is not the only beneficiary of the multi-billion dollar resource.

The Assembly Interim Committee on Manufacturing, Oil and Mining met in Long Beach recently to check over the state's interest in the rich tidelands and survey the stewardship of the city. Assemblyman Joe Kennick, of Long Beach, is chairman of the committee.

At the hearing, the committee found that indeed, the entire state of California joins with Long Beach as beneficiary from the oil reserves.

The history of state participation in the oil fields located under state tidelands granted the city before oil was discovered, is lengthy, legal and complicated.

It can be disposed of briefly, however, by pointing out that after lengthy legislative consideration, and court proceedings which reached the highest court in the state, the state of California reaps half of the net profit from tideland oil and all the profit from natural gas produced.

These monies are deposited in the state water fund, to be ploughed back into the development of another natural resource — water. So far the state has not found it necessary to sell any of the authorized $1.75 billion bond issue voted by the people for water development. And from the new Long Beach development, a state benefit of some $800 million is anticipated, enough to take care of a good part of the bond issue.

And as John R. Mansell, the wide-awake City Manager of Long Beach points out, water money is not the only benefit to the state. Mansell is proud of the beach developments contemplated with oil money, and says that a survey shows users of the beach total about 82 per cent of residents of other cities of California.

* * * *

A NEW AND modern Navy landing and an armed services YMCA are among the other uses to which oil funds have been put. A brand new 15,000 seat arena for all types of events, conventions and other large meetings nears completion. It will also serve as a trade fair and already countries from as far away as Scotland have applied for space.

The story of Long Beach is one which never will have an end. As Mansell says, "We are building for the future, and our growth parallels the growth of California and the West."

The future of Long Beach is bright, and its city fathers intend to keep it that way.

Secret Pressures Swing Votes on New Farm Bill

WASHINGTON—The public generally has the idea that Congress votes a law after long and careful consideration, during which the good of the nation is weighed and debated.

PEARSON

Unfortunately it doesn't always work that way. Take, for instance, one of the most important bills now before Congress—the farm bill, which will affect every farmer in the nation plus most of the housewives, millers, processors, grain elevator owners, and grocers.

The farm bill is being debated in secret committee meetings not according to what's good for the nation but according to the local, business, and lobbying pressure brought upon individual congressmen.

Here are the secret moves which the public doesn't know about:

* * * *

SECRET MOVE NO. 1— Sen. Bill Proxmire of Wisconsin left the Senate Agriture Committee the other day to make a TV recording. When he left he handed his proxy to Sen. Jim Eastland, cigar-chomping solon from Mississippi, who is against Kennedy's farm bill. Significantly, Proxmire did not hand it to Chairman Allen Ellender of Louisiana, who is for the bill.

The minute Eastland had Proxmire's proxy in his pocket, he began rooting to vote on the bill. Prior to this Big Jim had been lackadaisical. Now he pushed for a vote.

Hastily, White House and Agriculture Department aides tried to locate Proxmire, get him back in committee. They failed. Proxmire has been critical of Kennedy lately on the appointment of pro-industry men to the Federal Power Commission; also on Kennedy's failure to push aid to education. He never did return to vote.

His proxy in Eastland's hand gave opponents of the farm bill a 9-to-8 victory.

* * * *

SECRET MOVE NO. 2— In the farm bill is provision for helping farmers dig swimming and fishing ponds for city recreation purposes. This has given Senator Eastland and Rep. Abernathy, both of Mississippi, ammunition to whisper to Southern colleagues: "Are you going to vote for swimming pools where your children will have to swim with Nigras?"

Eastland and Abernathy are subjected to pressure against the farm bill from the big cotton interests. But the fishing-pond provisions in the farm bill have given them extra ammunition.

* * * *

SECRET MOVE NO. 3— One Republican, Milt Young of North Dakota, had promised to support the farm bill. He had given this promise to the Farmers Union which is strong in North Dakota. In the early voting he carried out his pledge. After an amendment to the feed grain provisions, however, he switched and voted no. In this way he straddled—voting first with the Farmers Union, which is for, later with the American Farm Bureau, which is opposed.

* * * *

SECRET MOVE NO. 4— Sen. Olin Johnson of South Carolina, a conscientious, hard-working senator, had favored the farm bill. Then Gov. Ernest Hollings announced that he would run against him. Since then Olin has been nervous. And he was too nervous to carry out his promise to vote with Kennedy.

* * * *

SECRET MOVE NO. 5— The House Agriculture Committee is headed by Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat, who knows farm problems and is backing Kennedy. However, Cooley is acting as lawyer in a case in North Carolina in which the widow and son of millionaire A. J. Mims have been contesting a will in favor of a local painter and alderman, Robert Moore.

It was expected that Congressman Cooley would get a fee of around $200,000 out of this case—if he won—and he was spending so much time in court rather than piloting the Kennedy farm bill through his committee that President Kennedy finally phoned him asking him to get back to Washington.

Kennedy didn't say so, but a congressman is paid by all the taxpayers to tend to his duties in Washington, not try law cases in local courts. Cooley, of course, didn't tell Kennedy that he was slightly miffed at not having been made secretary of agriculture.

* * * *

AT ANY RATE, Cooley finally lost his lawsuit. The jury awarded the millionaire's estate to the widow and her son.

After this it was expected that the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee would stick to his farm bill knitting. Instead, he left for Rome, Italy, on April 19 to attend an Inter-Parliamentary Union meeting, April 23-29—at the taxpayers' expense.

Congress, of course, is now in Easter recess. But North Carolina tobacco growers had hoped to have a meeting of North Carolina congressmen this week to consider legislative requirements for selling loose-leaf tobacco.

With Cooley in Italy, the meeting had to be postponed.

This is how some congressmen operate and how local influences and lobbying can change the course of legislation affecting millions of people.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

American Men Vs. Englishmen

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

"I was watching the Jack Paar show that was taped in London," said the woman sitting next to me at dinner, "and I was struck again with the vast dissimilarity between American men and Englishmen."

"In what way?" I said uneasily, adopting a clipped British tone.

"Well," she said, "Paar interviewed three English political figures, all of whom disagreed with one another. All of them were quite passionate and persuasive in their ways, but they sounded so very different from American men I have heard on political forums and round tables."

HARRIS

"You mean they were more educated?" I inquired.

"NOT JUST THAT," she answered, "although that's a part of it. What I mean is that they seemed so much more grown-up. They were urbane; they spoke with some grace and precision—and with a lot of humor.

"Maybe we don't think politics is funny over here," I ventured.

"I don't mean that," she shook her head. "They were utterly serious in their views, but they didn't put on that mock solemnity, that turgid style we're so accustomed to hearing. And they didn't give out with a lot of cliches about patriotism and the British way of life, and all that."

"WE DON'T LIKE wit and humor in our public men," I offered. "Apart from other factors, it was Stevenson's ready tongue that hurt him in the presidential elections. Americans seem to distrust a man who expresses himself well."

"That's part of it," she nodded. "It also has something to do with security. Those men felt secure enough in their backgrounds and accomplishments so that they could forgo the dreadful ponderousness of our politicians. They were dry and witty and sardonic—and delightfully self-deprecating. I guess Stevenson is the only American politician who deprecated himself in public—which is, apparently, not a trait we admire here."

"I'm sure many British political speeches are deadly dull," I put in.

"I'M SURE THEY are, too," she said, "but, all in all, our public figures seem like little boys compared to theirs. It's hard to imagine Churchill's splendid prose—at once subtle and masculine—being duplicated in America. And yet it was the inspiration of his prose that gave the British the courage and spirit during Dunkirk and before."

"You prefer Englishmen to American men, then?" I asked nasally.

"Not in many respects," she said, "but American men are duller to talk to. They wax lyrical only about business affairs and golf, and the humor is strictly locker room. No wonder we have so many dissatisfied women."

More Functional Cars Are Needed

EDITOR:

When a man becomes my age he automatically becomes licensed to call the younger generation names. It's a kind of hind sight. It's easy to look back and when you look down at the younger generation, that's just about what you're doing.

So, now, let me make my point: the stupidity of the young engineers who design cars and curbs is easily apparent to anyone who drives a car. (Don't the engineers drive?)

We are asked to get out of our cars on the curb side and then they arrange to bottle us up by mismatching the door bottom to the curb so that we can't get the door open.

I suppose next some one will start grinding off the top of the curb instead of simply filling in the gutter a little. That's about the way they do things these days. The modern cars are a beautiful sight to behold but I do wish they were a little more useful.

Languages in the News
By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

A recent national referendum in Switzerland regarding nuclear power was open only to male citizens, as Swiss females cannot vote. Rights for women are not yet as fully developed in Switzerland as elsewhere, as the proverb Die Frau gehort ins Haus ("The woman belongs in the Home") seems to testify. There was another German proverb, specifying the domain of women as Kirche, Kuche und Kinder ("Church, kitchen and children"). The Italians also used to say Il posto della donna e in casa ("The place of the woman is in the home") and the French, La femme au foyer ("Woman in the home.") But things have changed considerably since these sayings were current!

Other nations also have applauded silence and conformance from the weaker sex. The Portugese, for example, say: Onde canta o galo, nao canta a galinha ("Where the cock crows, the hen doesn't sing") and the ancient Latin writer, Tacitus, in describing the Roman matrons, observed, in two words: Sedebant, laborabant — "They sat and worked."

(Does some word in any language puzzle you? Put your question to "Languages in the News" in care of this newspaper.)

Steel Crisis Caused Lawrence Relapse

EDITOR:

On Friday, April 13, David Lawrence wrote an editorial in which he said President Kennedy had made the worst blunder of his political career. All through the article he weeped so for the steel magnates. I'm sure up to now it's amazing how they ever continued in business. The writer wishes all kinds of business to prosper and make a good sound profit. But I think Dave is sick. He has been very unhappy since Eisenhower left the White House.

During Eisenhower's eight years, Dave really had a good time with his pen. He enjoyed every day of it. He did write about two articles recently indicating he had recovered from Nixon's defeat. But when Kennedy roughed up the steel magnates, he suffered a relapse.

Un-American Probe to Be Protested

Bill Segan, 375 Termino Ave., has announced a group of Long Beach area people will picket against the House Un-American Activities Committee during its executive sessions today through Friday in Los Angeles.

Segan said he is temporary chairman here of a "reception committee" which intends to picket peacefully and without use of slanderous names against the committee as "unconstitutional." He said leaders also include Don Haley and Michael Hallberg.

Segan and Hallberg are members of the Long Beach Peace Information Center, 1518 E. 4th St. Segan said demonstrators will meet at 7:45 a.m. today at 1700 E. Anaheim St. and rides will be provided to the Federal Building in Los Angeles for the picketing.

Youth Faces Trial in Artesia Killing

BELLFLOWER—The one-sided gun battle in Artesia that killed one man and wounded three others nine days ago transpired so slowly that the accused killer "just stood around" for 10 minutes before walking away.

Testimony emphasized this Monday at the preliminary hearing for Daniel Chapa, 18, of 22003 Clarkdale Ave., Hawaiian Gardens, in custody on one murder count and two of attempted murder.

Chapa was ordered held for Superior Court trial May 7 in Long Beach at the conclusion of the hearing before Judge Roberta Butzbach in Cerritos Municipal Court.

* * * *

LONGEST ON the witness stand were Junio Boros and Richard Arror, acquaintances of Robert Sanchez, 19, of 11647½ 207th St., Artesia, who died of numerous gunshot wounds.

Both testified the attack was unhurried. There was no running, either by Chapa or his pursuers, and Chapa fired his last shot "five to 10 minutes" after the first bullet, they said.

The first shots were aimed at Sanchez. Next target was Refugio Rivera Jr., 17, of 18743 Alburtis Ave., Artesia, who was hit in the hand.

* * * *

LAST TO BE felled was Tomas Rodriguez, 16, of 12121 E. Hayford St., Norwalk, as he walked toward the slowly-retreating Chapa.

Boros testified he and Arror were seated in a car at 18817 Alburtis Ave. when Chapa was seen alighting from an old-model car.

Boros said Chapa walked toward their car and opened fire on Sanchez.

Then Chapa walked slowly toward a restaurant, a block away and near the South Street intersection, and "just stood around."

* * * *

BOROS AND Arror jumped from the car, fled up a driveway to escape further gunfire. They returned minutes later, Boros said, when they heard Sanchez call for help.

Boros said he saw Rodriguez approaching Chapa. Chapa turned and shot once. The bullet struck Rodriguez in the hip.

Chapa walked on to South Street and turned toward Pioneer Boulevard.

Then, Boros added, he and Arror went to a nearby field where Boros had secreted a rifle. Riding in a car driven by "Romero," they went looking for Chapa.

* * * *

NEAR SOUTH Street and Pioneer, the pursuers saw Chapa walking slowly northward. They made a U-turn and as they passed a second time, Boros fired once at Chapa and the car sped on.

Later in the evening, Chapa was arrested when his parents took him to Artesia Hospital for treatment of a lower back wound.

Glue Sniffers

SANTA ANA—Five youths from Orange County have been committed to Fairview State Hospital for the mentally ill.

Reason: glue sniffing.

Glue sniffing is a dangerous fad used by teen-agers to explore the fuzzy-edged world of a cheap kick. It is widespread among Orange County teen-agers and has brought concern from juvenile authorities and medical men.

Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner committed the five youths in the last year—all who had lost their minds after becoming addicted to sniffing plastic glue, the type used in making model airplanes.

Worried authorities have decided to appeal to school officials and parents to keep a watchful eye for youngsters acting goofy to help halt the fad before it causes fatalities or drives more youths out of their minds.

Orange County Deputy Probation Officer Roy W. Goddard, who has spent years of research into crazy fads used by teen-agers says "glue sniffing" is the most dangerous he has come across.

Nonresident Tuition Hiked

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bill raising the yearly nonresident state college tuition fee from $225 to $360 a year was signed Monday by Gov. Brown.

The bill, passed by the 1962 legislature, exempts foreign students from the fee hike.

Space-Firm Pact Talks Beginning

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Separate contract negotiations open this week between representativese of two aerospace firms with 17 facilities throughout the nation, and more than 15 unions representing 63,051 employes.

North American Aviation officials meet today with Leonard Woodcock, vice president of the United Auto Workers Union. Woodcock meets Wednesday with Douglas Aircraft officials.

* * * *

PRESIDENT Kennedy, after getting the steel industry to rescind its $6-a-ton price increase, indicated he wanted both companies and unions to try to hold the line on the wage-price spiral. He said he was particularly interested in stopping inflationary moves in the basic industries.

Douglas has 12 facilities and a total of 25,600 employes covered under the contracts which expire from June 15 through Oct. 29.

The pacts primarily are with UAW, the International Association of Machinists and the Professional Engineers' Association.

Other contracts include those covering culinary workers, painters, welders, teamsters, plant guards, electricians and engineers.

LDS Elder Morris Dies in Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)— Elder George Q. Morris, a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, died early Monday. He was 88 years old.

He had been hospitalized for some time for treatment of a stroke.

Elder Morris was appointed an assistant to the Council of Twelve in 1951, and was appointed a full Apostle in 1954.

He was a prominent Salt Lake City business man, having been for many years president of Elias Morris & Sons Co., a tile and monument firm.

'Hot Cargo' Unloading Progresses

A tedious operation to unload the freighter SS Severn River of its "red hot" cargo of steel scrap continued Monday at Berth 32, Long Beach.

The Japan-bound scrap ship was brought into the port Friday from anchorage off Reservation Point, Terminal Island.

Removal of the cargo, lubricated final steel and steel shavings which have been smoldering in incandescent heat for two weeks, was described by authorities as a tricky task.

After partial unloading of the fiery No. 5 hold a fire was discovered in the No. 4 hold necessitating the flooding of that compartment also.

In the operation water was removed from the flooded 5 hold and then part of the cargo before the No. 4 hold was flooded.

This is the newest wonder in the world of TWA: the DynaFan* jet engine, so powerful, so advanced, that an entirely new plane—the TWA StarStream*—was built around it. The DynaFan is TWA's new Pratt and Whitney JT3D-3 engine, designed as a totally integrated fan-and-turbojet system (many jet engines have merely been "modified" to accommodate fan impellers). The DynaFan generates more thrust, more power, than any engine in use by any other airline flying in the U.S.A. Cleveland Could Be 'Sleeper' of '62 Race

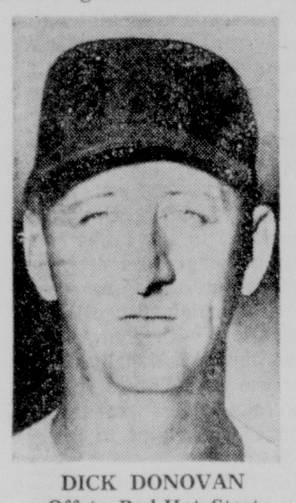
A year ago the Cleveland Indians were arousing quite a bit of optimism among their supporters. In fact, they were being rated good bets to beat out the Yankees.

However, they were never in serious contention after the second week in June . . . and finally finished fifth 30½ games behind the Yanks.

This year, the Indians generally have been picked to wind up in the same fifth-place slot . . . but in our estimation the Tribe could be the "sleeper" of the '62 race.

When they move into Chavez Ravine tonight to open a three-game set with the Angels, the Indians find themselves perched atop the American League standings . . . thanks to Sunday's sweep of a doubleheader with the Yankees.



DICK DONOVAN
Off to Red-Hot Start

The odds, of course, are against the Indians staying on top for long . . . but a much higher finish than fifth is a strong possibility. It's a far more dangerous club than it was a year ago for many reasons.

For one thing, the Indians have much more aggressive leadership this season in rookie manager Mel McGaha.

McGaha took over a job that his predecessor, Jimmie Dykes, labeled as "suicide" because of the many malcontents and clubhouse lawyers on the roster.

"That doesn't scare me a bit," McGaha declared when he was handed the job . . . and the way he said it served warning that the clubhouse lawyers would be promptly disbarred.

And it wasn't long before the Indians went into the trade marts to rid themselves of the more disturing influences which had made Cleveland a most "unhappy club."

A PROMISING CORPS of young pitchers led to the high appraisal of the Indians' pennant chances last year.

And while it wasn't too bad, it still failed to realize its full potential. Other factors, however, played just as much of a role in the Indians' fast slide after they led the league temporarily early in June.

Pitching is still the peg on which the club will rise or fall. While the slab corps may lack the outstanding starters of some of the other clubs, only the Yankees have as much pitching depth.

No less than seven Tribe pitchers won 10 or more games last year. In fact, the seven accounted for a total of 82 victories.

Two of them, of course, were acquired in trades—Dick Donovan from the Washington Senators and Pedro Ramos from the Minnesota Twins. In the deals, the Indians gave up two players who did not figure in McGaha's idea of more harmony on the club—Jim Piersall and Vic Power.

AMONG THEM, DONOVAN and Ramos won 21 games last year for losing clubs.

Donovan, while winning only 10 games, was the American League ERA leader with a 2.40 average. He was a "tough luck" pitcher, losing, as I recall, no less than seven games by one run. Already he has accounted for three of the Tribe's five victories to become the loop's winningest pitcher.

Ramos has been the AL's "losingest" pitcher for the past four seasons. He won 11 games last year while dropping 20. However, he has been eagerly sought by several clubs and is rated one of the top hurlers in the game. He should be of great help to the Indians.

The other five hurlers who won 10 or more last year are Mudcat Grant (15), Barry Latman (13), Gary Bell (12), Frank Funk (11) and Jim Perry (10).

Grant and Wynn Hawkins, who won seven games for Cleveland last year, are still in the Army and won't return to full-time duty until June or July. However, Grant will be able to pitch on weekends in the meantime.

THE CATCHING CORPS is headed by John Romano, a real good one who slammed 21 homers last year.

The infield is good defensively and has added power now that Tito Francona, .301 with 16 homers in '61, has been moved to first base. Jerry Kindall, obtained from the Cubs, gives the Tribe solid defense at second. Woodie Held is an excellent shortstop who can hit for distance as his 23 homers last year will attest, while the veteran Bubba Phillips at third bombed 18 out of the lot last season.

The outfield likely will see five or six men trading off for a while. The one fixture is Willie Kirkland in right field. Willie appears to be just coming into his own and McGaha may be the one to get better mileage out of him. Kirkland blasted 27 homers last year.

Rookie Ty Cline is the big hope in center field, while Chuck Essegian and rookie Al Luplow, a pair of former footballers, figure to platoon in left field. Walter Bond and Gene Green also will be seen from time to time.

They aren't the same cigar-store Indians of the past few seasons. They could get real tough if that pitching comes through.

Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets yells in dressing room after his team won its first game in National League over previously unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates 9-1 Monday. The Mets had lost nine in a row.

Moeller Pins 5-2 Setback on Braves

By GEORGE LEDERER
I. P-T Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE—Joe Moeller, the National League's baby pitcher, tossed away his first-start rattle Monday night and turned County Stadium into his private play pen. The 19-year-old Dodger phenom pinned a 5-2 defeat on the Milwaukee Braves to give the Dodgers the rubber match of the three-games series.

If Moeller showed any signs of nervousness it was only because his wife, Lee, is expecting their first child momentarily.

Moeller lasted less than two innings in his first start at Cincinnati last week and started shakily again Monday. But, after wild-pitching home a run in the first inning, the fuzzy-cheeked youngster settled down and emerged victorious over the veteran Lew Burdette.

The fidgety Burdette, if anything, was the more nervous of the two. And he had every reason to be nervous while absorbing his third successive loss.

* * * *

TWICE the umpires called him for making an illegal pitch and three times Burdette was the center of a rhubarb. Dodger manager Walter Alston was the first to complain while Burdette pitched to Jim Gilliam in the fourth inning. Alston contended that Burdette was illegally lifting his foot from the rubber.

Plate umpire Mel Steiner, a central figure in many Dodger arguments, and first base umpire Dusty Boggess later detected the violation that was to cost Burdette a run.

BOGGESS spotted it while Willie Davis flied to center to start the fifth inning. He called it a ball and waved

STREAKS END

Mets Stop Pirates Collect First Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The New York Mets, behind Jay Hook's five-hit pitching and their most powerful offensive display of the season, shook off the stigma of a record-tying losing streak Monday night with a 9-1 victory over the previously unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates.

New York went into the game with the possibility of losing its 10th in a row and setting a national league standard for the most successive defeats at the outset of a season.

A Pittsburgh triumph would have set a modern major league record of 11 straight victories at the start of a season surpassing by one a standard set by the Dodgers in 1955 and equalled Sunday by the Pirates.

Hook, a 25-year-old right-hander, became the first Mets' pitcher to go the distance this season.

Arizona '9' Staves Off 49ers, 9-7

University of Arizona's national-ranked No. 1 baseball team in the county staved off Long Beach State's desperate ninth-inning rally to take a 9-7 victory Monday night at Blair Field.

On the short end of a 9-3 count in their last at-bats, the 49ers scored four runs, had a man on third and the tying run at the plate before the final batter went out.

Long Beach led 2-1 after five frames, but the Wildcats got to starter Phil Snyder and reliefer Bill Rose for five runs after two were out to turn the tide. They added another off Rose in the seventh and got two quick runs off Bill Wilson in the eighth before Jack Foley and Bob Lancaster put out the fire.

LONG BEACH scored twice after two were out in the first on successive singles by Don Anderson, Gary Brown and Tom Turrill and a throwing error as Turrill stole second.

Clay, Machen, Dupas Triumph

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Cassius Marcellus Clay, Eddie Machen and Ralph Dupas—all prohibitive favorites—won as the script decreed as Joe Louis' United World Enterprises made its promotional bow before 7,500 bored witnesses in the Sports Arena Monday night.

Clay, unbeaten, ninth-ranked heavyweight from Louisville, scored the most impressive victory by tko'ing the beer-parlor brawler from Boise, George Logan, in 1:34 of the fourth round.

Machen, No. 2 ranked heavyweight contender, knocked out a very frightened Bert Whitehurst in 2:19 of the sixth stanza.

* * * *

DUPAS, TOP-RATED welterweight contender, decisively outpointed Los Angeles' Frankie Ramirez in the 10-round curtain-raiser, even though the tough veteran from New Orleans lost two big points on every ring officials' card for low blows.

In the windup 10-rounder, Tony Perez of Mexico decisioned Eddie Garcia of Los Angeles in a pier 6 lightweight bash.

* * * *

CLAY, MACHEN and Dupas were at least 7-1 favorites—and nothing their opponents' demonstrated gave any reason to second-guess the oddsmakers. In each case, it was man against boy.

Loquacious Clay had a few anxious moments before registering his 13th straight victory, 10 of which now are in the knockout column. Logan, a stevedore-type belter whom you'd like to have on your side when the bar stools start flying, actually had Cassius a bit worried in the second round.

* * * *

HOWEVER, FACIAL cuts for which the Idaho potato farmer is noted, took their toll and referee Lee Grossman stopped the blood-letting ceremony in the fourth round after Logan's corner had thrown in the towel.

Logan's first blood was drawn in the initial round when Clay squashed him in the nose with a snakelike left jab. From that point the claret flowed like wine.

Although Logan was too tough to be really hurt, his handlers were wise in calling it an evening. The 20-year-old Kentuckyian was beginning to find the range and would have mashed Logan's face worse than one of the potatoes in Boise very shortly.

NBA Leaders Meet Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The proposed shift of the Philadelphia Warriors' franchise to San Francisco will be the main item of business at the annual spring meeting of the National Basketball Association here today.

A final decision on the matter appears unlikely at this time, however.

The meeting, originally scheduled for three days, may last only one, with the rest of the spring session held later, a spokesman said.

He said some team representatives may not be able to spend more than one day in New York at this time because of business elsewhere.

Rampaging Tribe Rides Into Chavez

By ROSS NEWHAN

The Cleveland Indians, under a new chief and featuring several new warriors, ride into Chavez Ravine tonight for a three-game series with the Angels. Game time is 8 p.m.

The American League leaders of a week ago, the Angels now find themselves in a tie for fifth, the result of four defeats in six Chavez contests, including a current three-game losing streak.

Mel McGaha, the Tribe's new chief, has his braves on the warpath. Cleveland broke a 19-game Yankee Stadium jinx Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from New York to move into the lofty position the Angels held for a day.

Who the hey's McGaha? A personable 35-year-old Louisianan, Cleveland has groomed Mel for this assignment since 1954 when he was awarded his first managerial post with the organization. Ever since it's been a steady climb up the ladder of success.

* * * *

LAST SEASON McGaha served as coach under Jimmy Dykes, taking over when Dykes was fired during the Indians' last visit to Wrigley Field in September.

McGaha, who came within a broken pen point of signing a player contract with the Rams in 1946, undertook this winter the task of ridding Cleveland of its clubhouse lawyers and replacing pitchers Mudcat Grant and Wynn Hawkins, called to military duty.

Ace Driver Moss Hurt in Crackup

GOODWIND, England (UPI)—Stirling Moss, perhaps the fastest and the highest-paid Grand Prix auto racing driver in the world, narrowly escaped death but suffered severe fractures Monday when his car careened off a track at 100 miles per hour.

The famed British driver was running second on the 35th lap in the Goodwind 100-mile auto race behind eventual winner Graham Hill of England when his new racing car went flying off the track at St. Mary's corner.

The 32-year old Moss was pinned in the crumpled wreckage of his car for about 20 minutes before rescuers freed him by using special cutters.

Moss was taken to the Atkinson Morley Hospital at Wimbledon early this morning.

Moss' father, Alfred Moss, travelled in the ambulance

COLTS' END QUITS GAME

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Veteran Jim Mutscheller, 32, who never completely recovered from a knee operation last year, announced Monday he would not return to the Baltimore Colts next season.

"I'd certainly like to continue playing," said the eight-year veteran of National Football League play, "but I wasn't really satisfied with my recent performance and I feel it best for both the team and myself to bow out at this time."

EAGLE WRAPS IT UP

Nichols Cops Playoff

HOUSTON (UPI) — Youthful Bobby Nichols took to water like a duck Monday to come from three strokes behind to win the Houston Classic golf championship in a three-man playoff that was decided with an eagle 3 on the 19th hole.

The eagle, Nichols' second of the day, gave the 26-year-old former Texas A&M golfing star the $9000 first place money. He tied Dan Sikes through 18 holes, each finishing with a 1-over-par 71.

Jack Nicklaus, third man in the playoff trio, had trouble hitting the green and wound up with a 5-over-par 75. He and Sikes split second and third money, each getting $3800.

A heavy rain started falling during 15th hole play Monday and this seemed ready-made for Nichols. He was three strokes behind Sikes through 15 holes.

On the 16th hole, Nichols sank a 10-foot putt for a birdie while both Sikes and Nicklaus had bogeys.

Sikes, still with a one-stroke lead over Nichols, three-putted the 17th hole for a bogey five while Nichols got in with even par to catch up. Each had pars on the 18th hole, throwing Nichols and Sikes into a 19th hole playoff.

Nichols had an eagle on the 10th hole, holing out with a seven iron from about 150 yards. His second eagle came on the par-five first hole after his second shot rolled within 10 feet of the cup.

MAKES GOOD ON PROMISE

Clay Ready for 'World'

By FRANK HARVEY

Cassius Clay, talkative Louisville puncher, made good his promise to stop George Logan at the Sports Arena Monday night.

Following the fight the Louisville loudmouth said he would meet any heavyweight in the world including Eddie Machen, who halted Bert Whitehurst in six rounds on the same card.

Clay, confident and cocky, watched the Machen-Whitehurst fight from a ringside pew, and proclaimed he would stop Machen inside of five rounds.

Cassius the Great, however, was more interested in the ladies. Cassius did not want to pose without a feminine contingent surrounding him.

Cassius, strutting like a world conquerer proclaimed he would fight any heavyweight in the world, but at the same time said he had a fight coming up with Billy Daniels next month in Philadelphia, before he would agree to meeting anyone else.

Machen, a quiet fellow, said he would meet Clay anytime, anyplace, but added he thought Clay needed at least six or more fights before he would be ready to fight any of the top three contenders.

Clay, jubilant, "announced he was ready to meet Patterson tomorrow."

Cassius proved he can fight, but Logan also proved that Cassius isn't the greatest

L.B. Owes Dodgers Thanks

Eggs the Easter bunny didn't find:

. . . Those of us who are inclined to knock the Dodgers now and then (and have you noticed that only the very best as the Dodgers, Yankees, Maris, Shoemaker, etc., are the ones who get rapped the most?), might take notice of this item. Long Beach youth baseball teams received $6,100.64, courtesy of the Dodgers, as a result of the Brave-Dodger game played at Blair Field April 8. ALL the profit was divided equally among 16 Long Beach kid leagues, each circuit receiving $381.29 to spend as it desired on equipment. Dodgers didn't receive a red cent from the game, while the only Milwaukee expense was incurred in transportation from L. A. Airport to San Francisco. A big debt of gratitude is owed the Dodgers' Walter O'Malley and Buzzie Bavasi—and Milwaukee president John McHale — for their generosity to Long Beach. Rod Ballard of the Recreation Department was cognizant of this when he asked each benefitting league to write Bavasi at 1000 Elysian Park Ave., LA 12, and express thanks.

BUZZIE BAVASI
Angel to L. B.

. . . In addition to Ballard, game director Bill Feistner and mortician Jack Dilday also are due large bouquets. "Digger" personally supplied all transportation for the Braves from Blair Field to the airport.

. . . Speaking of the Dodgers, their ace announcer, Vin Scully, lists four present players on the all-Dodger squad he has witnessed during 13 campaigns of broadcasting. They are Duke Snider, Wally Moon, John Podres and Larry Sherry. (No arguments there, except possibly for Sherry, whose only outstanding season was in '59.) Scully's infield includes Gil Hodges (!), Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese and Billy Cox. His outfield embraces Snider, Moon and either Dixie Walker or Carl Furillo. Roy Campanella's his catcher, with Podres, Carl Erskine, Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe the pitchers. Sherry and Clem Labine are Scully's relief chuckers.

WHILE IN LONG BEACH, Abe Saperstein related that he has only two remaining objectives for his world-famed Harlem Globetrotters, who have accomplished everything else (including a command performance for the Pope in the Vatican) there is to accomplish. Abe wants:

1. To play before a crowd of 100,000.

2. To play in Red China.

"I hope people don't get the idea I'm a Commie," fretted Saperstein, "but I think the only place I'd be able to get 100,000 people to watch us at one time is in Moscow's football stadium. We played two solid weeks a few years ago in a Moscow auditorium—and we packed the place each night to its 14,000 capacity. Even American tourists weren't allowed to buy tickets.

"As for Red China, I think the Globetrotters could do a world of good for international relations by playing behind that curtain. I guess, though, that's shooting for the moon."

A moon with red, not green, cheese.

ART EDWARDS, the paint manufacturer, has bid $100,000 for the Vancouver franchise in the Western Hockey League, but the written offer was contingent on his not getting a franchise for Long Beach when the circuit convenes in the second week of May. It goes without saying, Edwards explains, that if he secured the Vancouver franchise he'd have a major toehold vs. Dan Reeves' hard-headed arguments (against Long Beach) in another year.

. . . Dick Tully, sales manager of the Breakers International Hotel (the old Wilton, dummy), is edging into the hockey act, too. A Canadian himself, Dick messaged one of the Merry-Go-Round's correspondents, Anne Ramsey of Edmonton, to bring along a number of Canadian girls to Long Beach when Canadian teams are competing in Southern California. (Miss Ramsay had objected to this corner's idea that the WHL forsake either Edmonton and Calgary and regroup in Long Beach.) Well, the Ram Fan Club travels everywhere, why not the Edmonton Girl Boosters?

. . . There's a Los Angeles writer who's mighty red-faced this week. In printing that six lefthanders in succession had pitched against the Dodgers in '48, he led off with Ernie Lombardi! (Somebody should have told Frank that Old Schnozz could barely wobble to his CATCHER'S position, let alone the mound.)

. . . And another red face belongs to Laker coach Fred Schaus, who did a remarkable job of steering his club to the NBA final playoff game. Fred's still boiling because Elgin Baylor was called into service. "If his name were John Doe, Elg never would have been called back," snorts Schaus. "He has a neurological history (the famed Baylor head twitch) and a calcification in the lower part of his back that should have ruled him out." We reported this months ago . . . and don't blame Schaus one whit for still complaining! It might have cost him the world title.

Los Alamitos Gate Down 16 Per Cent

By MAC McGUIRE

Mabel Chick made a strong finish to regain the lead she held at the start and won the $1,700 Newport Dunes Purse Monday at Los Alamitos Race Course before 5,242 fans.

The 3-year-old filly spoiled the bid of the 7-5 favorite, Tidy Too, to win two in a row. Jockey Jack Robinson hustled Mabel Chick up at the end of the 400-yard sprint to hit the wire in 20.6 seconds.

Mabel Chick paid $8.20, $4.00 and $3.00, while 89'er Lassie got up for second and a $7.00, $3.80 payoff. Tidy Too paid $2.80 to show. Tidy Too broke slowly and ran an erratic course.

The meeting hits the halfway point today, down 16 per cent in attendance compared to the first 12 days of the 1961 spring meeting.

The total attendance thus far has been 80,984 and the average daily crowd, 6,748, compared to 96,431 and 8,036 in 1961.

Wagering, however, had dropped off only 4.7 per cent compared to the same period last year. A total of $5,929,620 has been sent through the pari-mutuel machines for a daily average of $494,135, compared to $6,222,621 and $518,522 last spring.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislative interim committee Monday announced it would begin an investigation of boxing in California at a two-day public hearing May 22-23 in Los Angeles.

Chairman Lester A. McMillan, D-Los Angeles, of the Assembly interim committee on governmental efficiency, said the committee would take testimony on boxing regulations and safety measures.

The probe was ordered by the legislature after Benny (Kid) Paret was fatally injured in championship match in New York.

Rule 'Shoe' Blameless for Fouling

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stewards at Aqueduct Monday held jockey Willie Shoemaker blameless in the disqualification of Sunrise County in the Wood Memorial Saturday.

They ruled that Shoemaker had done all he could to keep Sunrise County from drifting out and interfering with Admiral's Voyage.

The two horses finished in a dead head in New York's final prep for the Kentucky Derby but Sunrise County was disqualified.

The horse also had been disqualifid in the Flamingo Stakes for the same trait after finishing first.

This was the second foul claim and disqualification in which Shoemaker was involved during the Aqueduct meeting. On April 16, Practical Joker was disqualified and Shoemaker also was held blameless.

Even had Shoemaker been given the usual 10-day suspension he would have been able to ride Sunrise County in the Kentucky Derby on May 5. The suspension would have been up on Derby eve.

which moved the 32-year-old driver from the Royal West Sussex Hospital at Chichester, where he had been taken following the accident.

The British speed-king, with most of his hand bandaged, looked pale and haggard with blood round his mouth where his teeth and gums had been injured in the crash. His injuries were described as "a moderately severe head injury, lacerations and a fractured leg." He was said to be "seriously ill."

Fishin' Along the Coast with Andy Anderson

Local Banks Produce Good Catches

Do you want 'em big? . . . Or do you prefer the smaller type? Local boats are furnishing a shot at either.

Perhaps the most consistent fishing has been produced by local banks, where small barracuda and halibut, with good catches of bass and bonito, have been taken. Pierpoint's Sea Angler and Pierpoint; Pacific's Estrella, and Norm's Sport King all produced near limits of these fish Monday morning. Seal Beach's Red Rocket reported limits of barracuda and bonito.

Several barracuda over 26 inches were found in the sacks.

The larger variety of fish came from San Clemente Island. Pierpoint's Liberty and Norm's Catalina Special worked breezing yellows on the back side. The Liberty had decked 12 fish at 11 a.m., had five on the strings at that time, and skipper Dick Shaver reported that he could see four schools of yellows from the wheelhouse—besides the school he was working. The Cat Special decked 12 yellows Monday morning.

* * * *

IN ADDITION to the yellows, running from 20 to 30 lbs., both boats accounted for good catches of bull bass. Pacific's Fisherman II did not make the run Monday, but will be in action starting Tuesday at 1 a.m.

Newport, Balboa and San Clemente boats scored with good catches of barracuda, bass and bonito Monday morning. Oceanside's Sea Lure got into the yellowtail act by boating 10 of the scrappers from breezers off the power plant, then joined the remainder of the Oceanside fleet in barracuda and bass off Solano Beach.

Barracuda and bull bass bit fairly well for Mission Beach boats Monday, with the La Jollian and Mission Queen reporting near limits. The former reported two yellows, topped by a 35-pounder.

* * * *

SAN DIEGO boats that had mackerel in the tanks and a few passengers on deck took yellows off the Coronado Islands Monday. Bruce Barnes' Qualifier, with four passengers aboard had eight yellows for the day. Barnes reported the four anglers went through about 35 hookups to get the eight fish.

Skiff fishermen are having a ball at the breakwater early and late in the day, with bull bass up to seven pounds rewarding their efforts. Seal Beach pier has been good on halibut and bonito recently.

BITS FROM THE LINE . . . A guy tries to make a hero of himself in the eyes of an only grandson, and what happens? We couldn't buy a bass strike last week. And the little fellow had his heart set on his first bass.

We tried Clear Lake early in the week, where the bronzebacks had called it quits after a blow late the previous week. Thursday the wind let go again, and we headed for Isabella Friday a.m., just in time to get in on the tail end of a blow at that spot. We couldn't even show him a bass that some expert had caught.

The trip wasn't a complete washout, however, as we broke out the flyrods and had a good go at Clear Lake crappie between ¾ lb. and 1¾ lbs. The boy took to the flyrod like a duck takes to water, and caught about as many crappie as the old man. Not only that, but Richard Bryant Brown of Orange sacked the 1¾ pounder, a good ¾-pound better than his grandfather could do.

Isabella is showing promises. We were told bass were hitting good before the winds came. Water conditions are improving here, with the lake raising six inches daily. Bass should start hitting at both lakes soon.

* * * *

OTHER FRESH WATER reports indicate many weight limits of bass at Irvine (whatever is meant by that remark); good crappie and trout catches. Trout plants twice weekly. Bass takes are good at Cachuma and Henshaw, with black eels, Bombers and Sail Sharks the best producers. Bluegill and crappie are rated fair at both lakes, with Henshaw adding a fair amount of cats.

Crowley is set for the opener Saturday, and ideal conditions are expected. All rental units are taken for weekends through May 19-20, but may be obtained on weekdays. Private boats properly inspected may be launched.

Big Bear's boat angling season opens Saturday, and the lake should afford excellent trout catches. Incidentally, reports from the lake indicate that some of the 300-odd brood bass recently planted by the DF&G are being taken by anglers. Authorities ask sportsmen to release these fish until after spawning season, as it was hoped that these bass, with another 200 to be planted soon, will establish a bass fishery in the lake. How about it, Gents . . . ?

California party-boat skippers reported a catch of 3,500,000 fish during the 1961 season. As usual, rockfish headed the list, with 898,600 reported. Bonito ranked second, kelp and sand bass third. Albacore counts reached 185,000, only 2,267 short of the record season of 1952. Yellowtail counts fell to 42,367.

fighter to come along.

Clay is sure to prove popular, but his pre-press notices were a little short of what could be expected last night.

Machen had praise for both Clay, Logan, and Whitehurst.

Ralph Dupas, the No. 1 welterweight, had little to say regarding his win over Frankie Rameriz. I'll never get a title shot," said Dupas. Ramirez, a Long Beach favorite, said he hurt his arm in the second round.

Tote Board Whirls for $2,004 Payoff

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—The daily double returned $2,004 at Laurel Monday, the biggest such payoff of the year at any of the nation's major tracks.

Colonel True won the opening event at $34.40 and Fiddling Wheys set the tote board whirling with a $156.80 payoff in the second race. It was the first victory for each horse.

BELLINO ON AMATEUR '9'

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Ensign Joe Bellino, the former Navy football All-American, signed Monday to play baseball in the Norfolk Amateur League. He'll play outfield with the Chesapeake Athletic Club.

Bellino, who is stationed abroad the USS Norfolk, rejected all major league attempts to sign him when he was graduated from the Naval Academy.

HITCH FRIENDLY SO FAR, THAT IS

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baseball Writers Association of America set some sort of record Monday night.

The organization presented a plaque to rookie manager Billy Hitchcock of the Baltimore Orioles for his friendliness with the press, although the Orioles have played only 10 games so far in the young 1962 season.

Dodgers Hit With Suit

The Los Angeles Dodgers Monday were named in a $250,000 damage suit filed by a woman who charges she was seriously injured in an accident on opening day at the new $18 million stadium.

Mrs. Avice J. Johnson, 44, (329 Cornell Drive) Burbank, said she suffered four broken vertebrae when another spectator fell down four rows of seats on top of her. She stated the fall resulted because of the "steepness" of the stadium's rise.

The suit also charged that she failed to receive prompt medical attention at the ballpark.

quired pitchers Dick Donovan and Pedro Ramos and powerhitter Gene Green.

Donovan, the AL's ERA king last season, has won three of the Indians' five victories—two by shutouts. To replace Power, McGaha has moved Tito Francona from leftfield to first base and inserted youngsters Al Luplow and Ty Cline in the outfield along with Willie Kirkland.

Ron Taylor (0-1), a 24-year-old righthander up from Salt Lake City, will face the Angels tonight and a welcome sight he will be. The Seraphs have been fed a steady diet of southpaws and the team's batting weight has been reduced perilously close to the .200 mark.

Dean Chance (0-0), will attempt to apply the brakes to the Angels' skid. A righthander with a grand future, Chance pitched well in a no-decision start against Kansas City last Thursday.

Trojans Work on Shiftier Shifty-Eye

By JEROME HALL

For all those who may be wondering what kind of football team USC will have this fall, coach John McKay had an answer Monday when he opened the Trojans' spring drills.

USC probably will be niftier and most certainly will be shiftier.

"We're going to have 19 days of hard contact work," said McKay after the first of 20 drills.

After a few knee bends and pushups, the 70 candidates went right into the serious business of polishing the Shifty Eye formation.

McKay unveiled the newest wrinkle in the Shifty-Eye, which he introduced last season. In many of the plays this season, not only will the halfbacks and fullback shift just before the ball is snapped, but the linemen also will shift.

And on some of the plays, the backs will shift, then the line will shift and then the backs will shift again.

"This is our answer to the single wing," cracked McKay, who is beginning his third season as head coach of the Trojans.

McKay will have 16 lettermen around which to build his '62 team. His big problem will be building a line. He will have to depend to a large degree on jaycee transfers and a few kids up from the frosh team. The entire middle of the first line—tackles, guards and center—is gone.

The '62 Trojans will be well-fixed in the backfield, however. Both of the alternating starting quarterbacks — Bill Nelsen and Pete Beathard — are back along with a half dozen halfbacks and three fullbacks. Leading the fullback contingent is Ben Wilson, who already has been drafted by the Rams.

If the Trojans come up a winner, Wilson may be an all-American.

Halfback Willie Brown is the only absentee. He's playing baseball. He'll be ready in September, though, without the pain in the foot that cramped his style of breakaway running last season.

Drills continue the next four weeks, Mondays through Thursdays, take Friday off and scrimmage on Saturdays. The annual clash with the pro-studded alumni team caps the spring session May 19 in the Coliseum.

favorite, had no troubles at all with rabbit-scared Whitehurst. Machen took every one of the five preceding rounds handily and when referee Tommy Hart finally tired of it all in the sixth heat, everyone in the audience was appreciative.

After Eddie rocked the backtracking Baltimore veteran with a series of jabs from both sides, Hart led the stunned (and awed) Whitehurst to his corner for the last time.

It was hard to say who was the most relieved, Whitehurst or the crowd.

Dupas clearly outclassed Ramirez but couldn't put away the Mexican, who claimed later that he had injured a hand in the second round. In registering his 94th victory—quite an achievement record for a youngster of only 26—Dupas gave his opponent quite a boxing lesson.

Referee George Latka was forced to stop the battle on three occasions—twice in the fourth round and again in the 10th heat—when Ramirez apparently was nicked with low blows by the Frenchman.

The first below-the-belt swat was obvious, but it appeared from this corner that Ramirez was capitalizing on his luck and turning into an actor. At any rate, the scheme paid off as Dupas was deprived of two points.

Minus deductions, Latka scored it 7-1 for Dupas, with judges Hart and John Thomas recording it 6-1 and 5-2.

By far the best fight was the one with the least prestige. Perez and Garcia battled tooth-and-nail through their 10 rounds, with referee Thomas favoring the loser, while Grossman and Latka prevailed with majority decisions for Perez.

Louis' initial venture probably broke even—a gross gate of $57,000 was reported—but it was far from an artistic success.

Maybe next time, a card featuring Clay vs. Machen and Logan vs. Whitehurst would be the right ticket. At least the right battlers would be matched.

DODGERS

Willie back to the plate. It turned out to be a 400-foot penalty for the Braves, who had no option.

Willie drove Burdette's next pitch into the right-center field bleachers for his second homer of the year, giving Moeller a 3-1 edge.

Steiner also called the infraction while Burdette was pitching to Gilliam in the same inning. This time it was innconsequential. Gilliam lined out.

For Burdette, the fifth leading winner among active major league pitchers, this was his 10th consecutive loss to the Dodgers at County Stadium. His last home victory against the Dodgers was in July of 1956.

Burdette was through after John Roseboro hit a two-run homer in the sixth for the final Dodger runs. It was Roseboro's first of the year.

The Dodgers scored their first two runs in the fourth on singles by Gilliam and Duke Snider and a double by Tommy Davis. In six games and 25 at-bats against the Braves, Tommy has driven in 10 runs on three homers, a triple, four doubles and two singles.

Gilliam, Snider, T. Davis and Roseboro each had two of the Dodgers' nine hits. The Braves also had nine hits, three by rookie Howie Bedell.

An infield hit by Bedell and a wild throw by third baseman Andy Carey caused Moeller's rocky start. After walking Mack Jones, the first of two wild pitches by Moeller gave the Braves a 1-0 edge.

The Braves did not score again until the eighth when Moeller issued his second and final walk and wild-pitched again. Eddie Mathews' single and a pickoff throwing error by Roseboro put Moeller in mild difficulty with one out.

After Joe Adcock struck out and Frank Bolling walked, Roy McMillan's single off Carey's glove scored Mathews.

The Dodgers begin a three-game series at Chicago this afternoon with Sandy Koufax (2-1) facing the Cubs' Don Cardwell (0-3).

seventh, successive singles by Dallas Moon, Bob Cooper and Anderson picked up another.

In the ninth, Cooper walked, but was forced by Anderson. Brown walked, Turrill singled home Anderson. Brown then came home on a throwing error by the shortstop and John Bogan tripled home Turrill and Roy Tower before the threat ended.

UGLY GIRLS ---AND YOGI

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) —The Yankees were standing around the batting cage before a game here last week and talking about movie stars — girl - type movie stars, of course.

"Some of them are uglier than their pictures show," growled Yogi Berra.

"You're not too pretty yourself," shot back first baseman Bill Skowron.

"Yeah," Yogi admitted. "But I'm supposed to be ugly and they're not."

Rickey Raps Expansion

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Branch Rickey, longtime baseball executive and head of the defunct Continental League, said Monday night that the owner of the New York Mets and Houston Colt 45's had been "victimized" by National League executives, according to the New York Daily News.

Rickey, a proponent of expansion through a third major league — the Continental — rather than through two 10-team leagues, feels the Mets' situation is a vindication of his original warning that the 10-team arrangement was "a terrible mistake."

Rickey said there is "a feeling of complete futility" in the 10-team arrangement. "It's wrong, utterly wrong, this idea of 'give me $2 million for the players I don't want and then play me for the championship with them.'"

STRIKE AT CHAVEZ?

The trickle of trouble for the Dodgers that started with complaints over lack of water fountains at the new $18-million Dodger Stadium threatened to burst into a flood tide Monday.

The union, which represents some 300 stadium workers, charged working conditions at the Chavez Ravine ballpark are "one helluva of a mess" and announced it will call a strike unless its grievances are promptly corrected.

Maintenance workers were reported irate because they were ordered to scrub the stadium tiers on their hands and knees.

"That is going to stop and no questions about it," said one union official.

Their complaints were echoed by groundskeepers, ushers and ticket-takers who all charged they are saddled with the alternate of paying $1 to park on the stadium grounds or "hiking two miles to the job."

Pierce in 2nd Win Over Reds

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ex-American Leaguer Billy Pierce scored his second straight National League victory Monday night when his six-hit pitching enabled the San Francisco Giants to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2.

It was Pierce's second victory, both over the Reds, against no defeats.

The Giants scored their first two runs on misplays by Cincy catcher Hank Foiles — a passed ball and an overthrow. Ed Bailey hit a homer in the sixth while Willie Mays singled home the final run in the ninth.

THE INSIDE LANE

3 Marks May Fall at Mt. SAC

By JOHN DIXON

It's big-meet time on the track and field front.

The Mt. San Antonio Relays Friday and Saturday inaugurates the relay and invitational events, and if you listen to the coaches, it'll be the beginning of some record-breaking.

Best bets at Walnut Saturday are the pole vault, discus and 440.

Dave Tork, the audacious Camp Pendleton Marine, wouldn't surprise many if he bettered John Uelses' pending vault record of 16-¾. Tork has been over 15-8¾.

Recognized record holder George Davies (15-10¼) of Arizona State and the Striders' Ron Morris (15-8) also have record potential.

The discus field is the best of the year.

It matches record holder Jay Silvester (199-2½), former champ Rink Babka (196-6½), collegiate record holder Glenn Passey of Utah State (190-9½), Pasadena Olympian Bob Humphreys (190-1), Dave Weill of Stanford (188-6½) and Olympian Parry O'Brien (188-0).

With ideal quartering winds, the Mt. San Antonio stadium probably is the finest discus sail arena in the world. A throw of 190 might not even earn a third-place medal.

If Glenn Davis' 440 record of 45.7 falls, Ulis Williams, lanky 20-year-old Arizona State freshman from Compton, is the man to do the pushing.

Williams has run 46.0 this semester with little competition. He'll have plenty Saturday, though, particularly from Occidental sprinter Steve Haas (9.5 100, 20.5 220), whose best distance is two furlongs.

* * * *

LONG BEACH STATE'S big-league status has been recognized by the Mt. SAC management.

Invitations have been extended to 49ers George Lacy and John Kosarich in the 5,000, Jeff Clements (48.3) in the 440, Jim Richardson (9.5) in the 100, Dee Andrews in the broad jump (24-11) and high hurdles (14.3), Darryl Taylor in the 880 (1:53.5) and Gary Patterson (14.2) in the highs.

The latest NCAA ratings give the 49ers a good boost, too.

Andrews is listed first in the broad jump and low hurdles (22.6), Richardson is sixth in the 100 and fourth in the 220 (20.7), and Patterson is ninth in the highs and third in the lows (22.9).

CINDER SYNTAX . . . The Mt. San Antonio meet must rank as the biggest meet of the year from two standpoints—130 events, and 2,115 individual athletes. Action begins Friday at 11:30 a.m. with prep, junior college and college events and continues through 101 events to 11:15 p.m. On Saturday university-open field events start at 11:30 a.m., the races begin at 1:20 p.m., and the conclusion should appear at about 5 p.m. . . . The stadium is located between Covina and Pomona. Recommended routes are the San Bernardino Freeway or Brea Canyon Road. Reserved seats are $2.50 for the entire program, general admission is $1 Friday afternoon, $1 Friday evening, $1.50 Saturday. . . . USC will meet Stanford in the Coliseum Friday at 8 p.m. in addition to Mt. SAC competition. Two Long Beach boys are members of the Indian varsity. Steve Cortright had bests last year as a frosh of 14.7 and 23.9 in the hurdles and 46-0 in the hop, step and jump. Chick Hastings threw the javelin 180-1. Stanford coach Payton Jordan, best in the business, calls Cortright "the finest hurdles prospect at Stanford since Chuck Cobb seven years ago." Hastings "has a good arm, but should be faster and more explosive." Two L.B. boys are Stanford freshmen, 49.1 quartermiler Skip Amos and 14.7 high hurdler Rick Scherer. . . Those poor Trojans have a rematch scheduled with Oregon April 6 of next year at Eugene. . . . Jim Grelle of the L.A. Track Club took time out from soap selling to lecture the track writers at Mabel's Room Monday. "I'm in the best shape of my life," the Olympian pointed out, and I hope to run my first 4-minute mile Saturday. It just depends on how I feel that day." Grelle's lifetime best is 4:00.1. Teammate Jim Beatty has leg muscle woes and may not run. Grelle declared that "at least 10 Americans should be running under four minutes, but some are not getting the proper training." . . . Ray Van Asten of Mt. San Antonio was voted "track athlete of the week" for his 1:50.2 win in a special 880 Saturday (51.9 last 440), while teammate Joe Faust won the field event nomination for the third highest-ever high lump of 7-1¼. The well-traveled Faust had a peculiar training routine. He took a bus to Sacramento, discovered he was broke, and "I hopped a freight back. Little food, less sleep. Why? I don't know."

12,000 Puzzled Tots Make Omelet in White House Yard

By BILL SUMMER
of The Independent's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The annual rite of spring was celebrated here Monday and the White House lawns are covered with crushed Easter eggs.

The event is known as the annual Easter Monday Egg Roll, for lack of a better title, and the kids, estimated at about 12,000 did, for sure, roll eggs.

As children roamed, skipped, romped and rolled across the broad rolling expanse of lawn in back of the White House, eggs went rolling and bouncing along with them. Eggs were thrown. Portions of eggs were thrown. Kids had egg and sick looks on their faces and adults stepped carefully through the mess.

* * * *

ALL THIS as military bands blared forth, one of them a bagpipe band, dressed in kilts, furnished by the Air Force.

The center of attention, all through the vigorous ceremony of rolling eggs and watching them break, was Caroline Kennedy's playyard, carefully barricaded with a temporary fence. Here is what Caroline has to play on—

A tree house with a slide, a jungle gym, a sand box, a wading pool, and a neat white playhouse of about the size they used to sell vets, no down payment.

* * * *

AND AMONG the playthings that caused the greatest amount of comment was a punching bag, a fitting instrument, was the thought, in the athletic new frontier and not a bad idea at all for a little girl to know something about.

The egg roll itself is not, as one might think, a contest of any sort.

It originated in 1878, under the administration of Rutherford B. Hayes, and has continued unabated since through willing and unwilling administrations. It is just one of those things.

* * * *

LITTLE children dressed in Easter finery come trooping to the White House with baskets in hand and go whooping through the paths, up the slopes, down the slopes and at some given time a parent will say:

"Don't you want to roll eggs?"

So they want to roll eggs. They get the eggs out of their baskets and roll them. And then, as people begin stepping on them, they wonder why they have done this.

The older children played catch with their eggs. And as is usual with such things, threw harder and harder as the game progressed until, finally, the eggs disintegrated.

* * * *

IN THE FEW odd minutes when the brisk gale died down Monday one could get the odor of hardboiled eggs and could easily swear off the things for life.

There are temporary comfort stations there. There were two ambulances and there was a lost and found tent manned by the Girl Scouts. What is lost and found on such an event is, of course, children. A peek into the tent uncovered four scared youngsters, two of them bawling, surrounded by several Girl Scouts who were telling them everything would be all right.

Out there on the vast lawn somewhere bewildered adults, deafened by the din, were calling out for their young. At final check, these families had been united again and would live happily ever after.

PICTURESQUE REGISTRATION

This was the picturesque scene Monday as delegates to the Grand York Rite sessions of California registered at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Ninth Street and Elm Avenue. The sessions end Friday with installation rites.

Van Johnson to Pay Wife With Stock

LOS ANGELES (CNS) — Superior Court Judge Roger Alton Pfaff Monday authorized R. E. Allen, a court-appointed receiver, to sell $4,900 worth of stock belonging to actor Van Johnson and his estranged wife, Eve.

The money from the sale will be used to pay Mrs. Johnson, 41, temporary alimony and child support.

Allen was named receiver because Johnson, 45, was out of the country last March 9 when Judge Pfaff ruled Mrs. Johnson would receive $4,500 temporary monthly alimony, and their daughter, Schuyler, 14, would receive $500 monthly support.

Wrestlers Want to Be Entertainers

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP) — Billy Two Rivers, the Terrible Turk and other television wrestlers want to join the entertainers' union. Objections arose Monday.

More than 200 of the grunt and groan merchants seek to team up with chorus girls, red-nosed comedians, fire-eaters, jugglers and acrobats in an effort to boost their television pay.

If talks between the Wrestlers' Alliance and the Variety Artists' Federation succeed, then the wrestlers will officially be entertainers.

* * * *

THE VARIETY Artists' Federation recently won a 30-pound ($84) minimum fee for entertainers on television after a 17-day strike. And if the wrestlers join up, the federation will seek to get them new pay terms on the same basis.

The move came under attack Monday from Johnny Dale, a director of Dale Martin Promotions, which provides many of the wrestling contests on British commercial television. He said:

"It's farcical that wrestlers, who are competitive individual performers, should become members of an entertainment union."

But broad-shouldered Harry Fields, chairman of the 15-month-old Wrestlers' Alliance, defended the proposed link-up.

* * * *

"WRESTLING is a sport and an entertainment," he said. "Despite talk of fixes, every wrestler is out to win, though he may have to be a bit of a showman at times.

He asserted there was no contract, no agreed terms, that wrestlers seen by millions of viewers might get as little as 10 pounds ($28) a match.

"Wrestlers are in the hands of promoters, who pay what they think," he added.

There was no immediate comment from the chorus girls or from the comedians.

Living on a Peak

TOKYO (UPI) — Keido Takaoka and his bride asked authorities Monday if they could register their permanent home address as the summit of 13,395-foot Mount Fuji to honor their wedding. Authorities said "please wait a little more" so they could investigate.
